As our times are changing rapidly, The Hill moves onward through the murky pools of mental stagnation into a land where individual initiative and creativity abound. In order to keep up with our times and attempt to make our efforts worthwhile, we, The Dial Board and Staff, feel it necessary to cast away our traditional format, and strive for a totally new and different dimension.

A dedication of this sort can not be given, it can only be offered to a man who has given of himself to us and to this school. And in honoring such a man who has taught us, lived with us, and inspired us through his courageous outlook on life, one name stood above the rest. Though this dedication cannot match his twenty-five years of devoted service, we, the class of 1969, are very proud to offer this book to SAMUEL B. SCHAADT.

ARCHIBALD R. MONTGOMERY, III

Archibald R. Montgomery, III was graduated from the Westminister School, Simsbury, Connecticut, in 1943 and from the University of Pennsylvania in June, 1949.

After graduation from Westminister, Mr. Montgomery enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps and served as 1st Sergeant in the Pacific Theatre and in the Occupation of Japan until his honorable discharge in June, 1946.

After receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania, he joined the faculty of the Westminister School where he was instructor of English, house-master, and coach of junior varsity football, hockey, and baseball. During the summers of 1950 through 1955 he pursued graduate study at the University of Pennsylvania, receiving his M.A. in English in 1956.

In 1960, after eleven years at Westminister, he resigned to accept the Headmastership of Garrison Forest School. On July 1, 1968, he became the Headmaster of The Hill School succeeding Mr. Edward T. Hall.

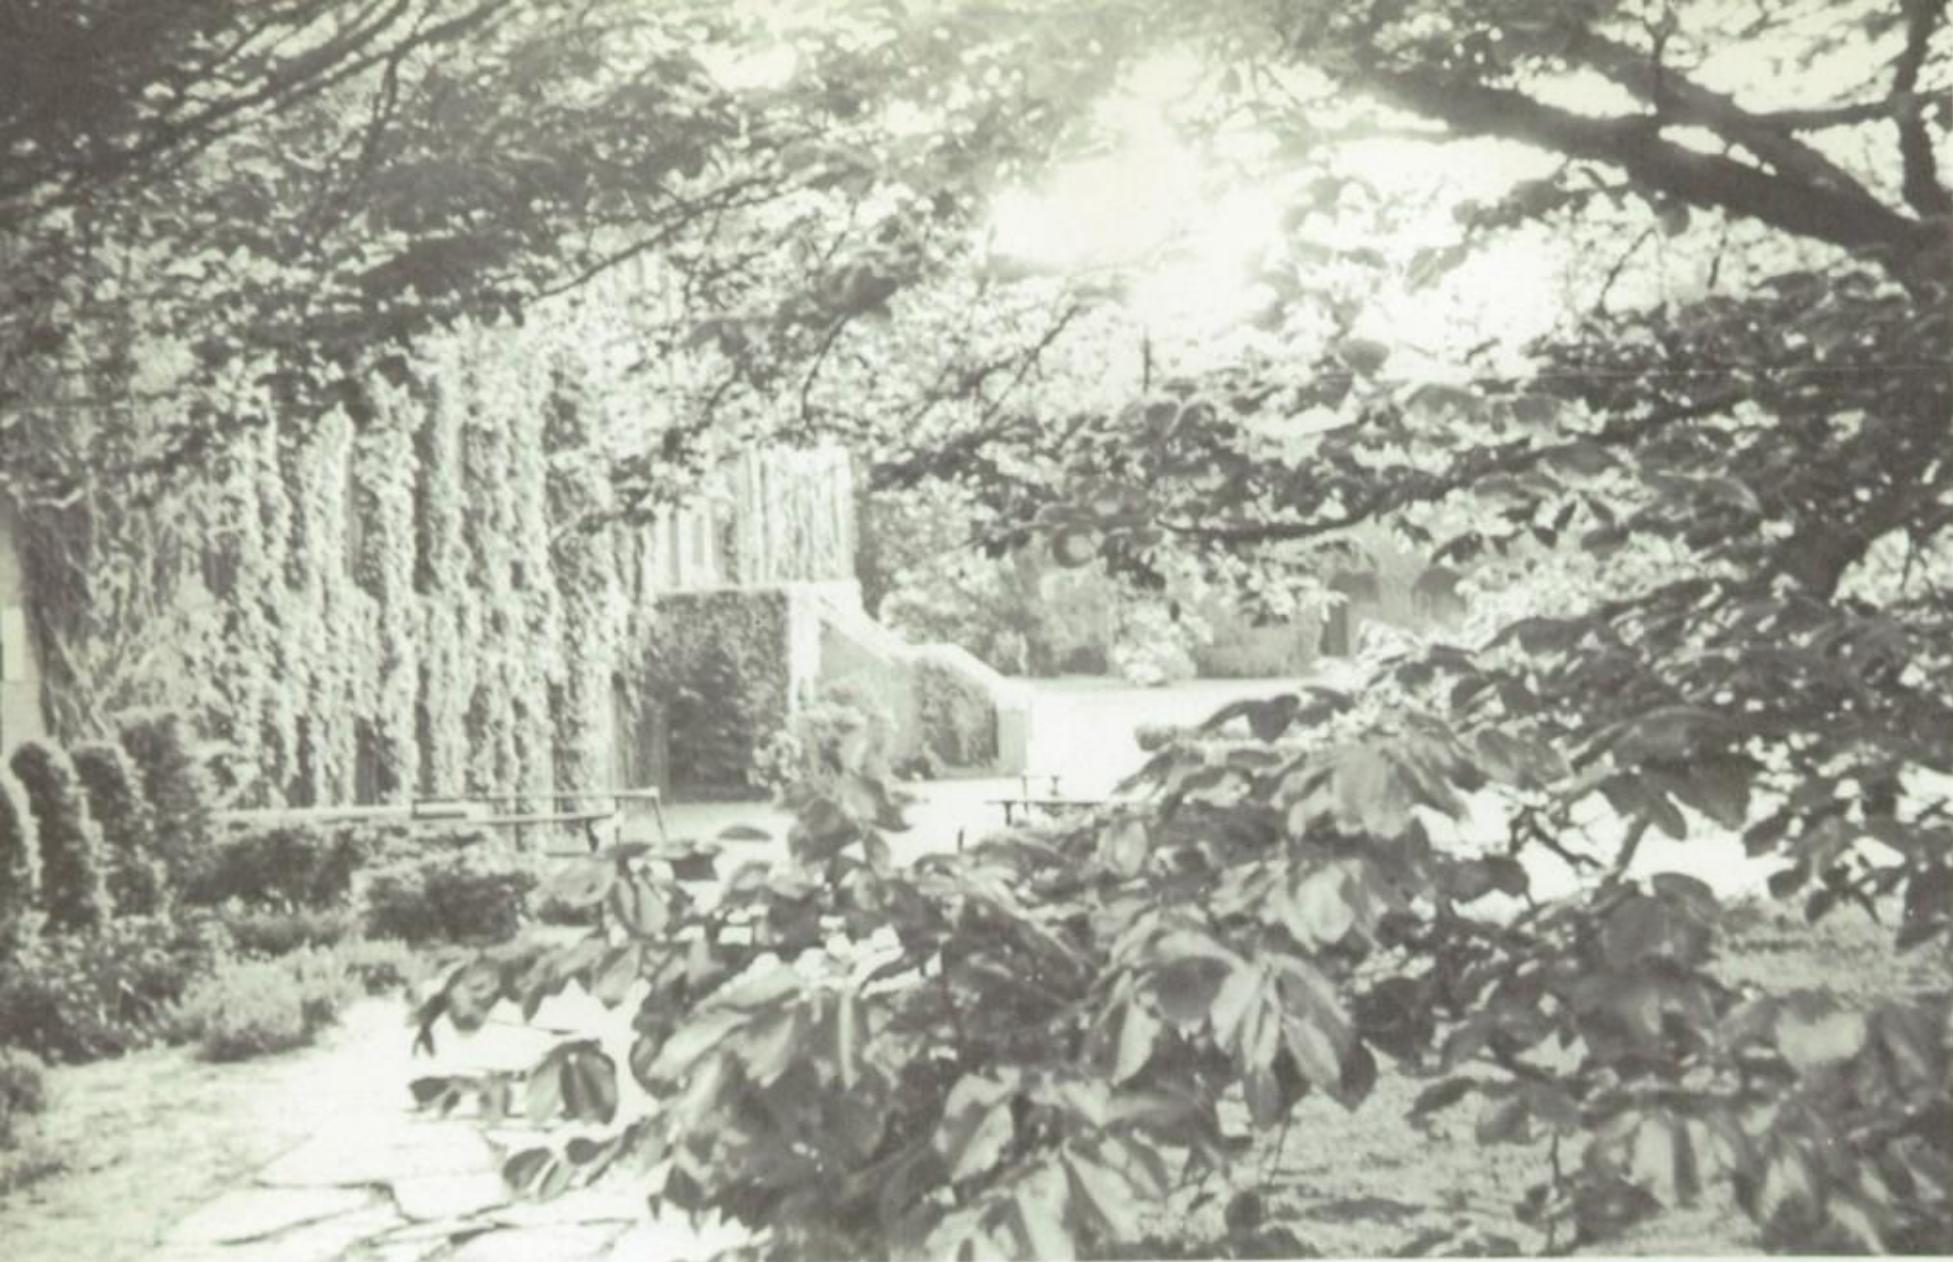

Mr. Montgomery is married to the former Anita Clothier Packard of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Montgomery attended Westover School and Vassar College. They have five children: a son sixteen, and four daughters ranging in age from four to thirteen.

I couldn't be more pleased with your class

SIXTH FORM SIXT

H FORM SIXTH FC

Sixth Form

History

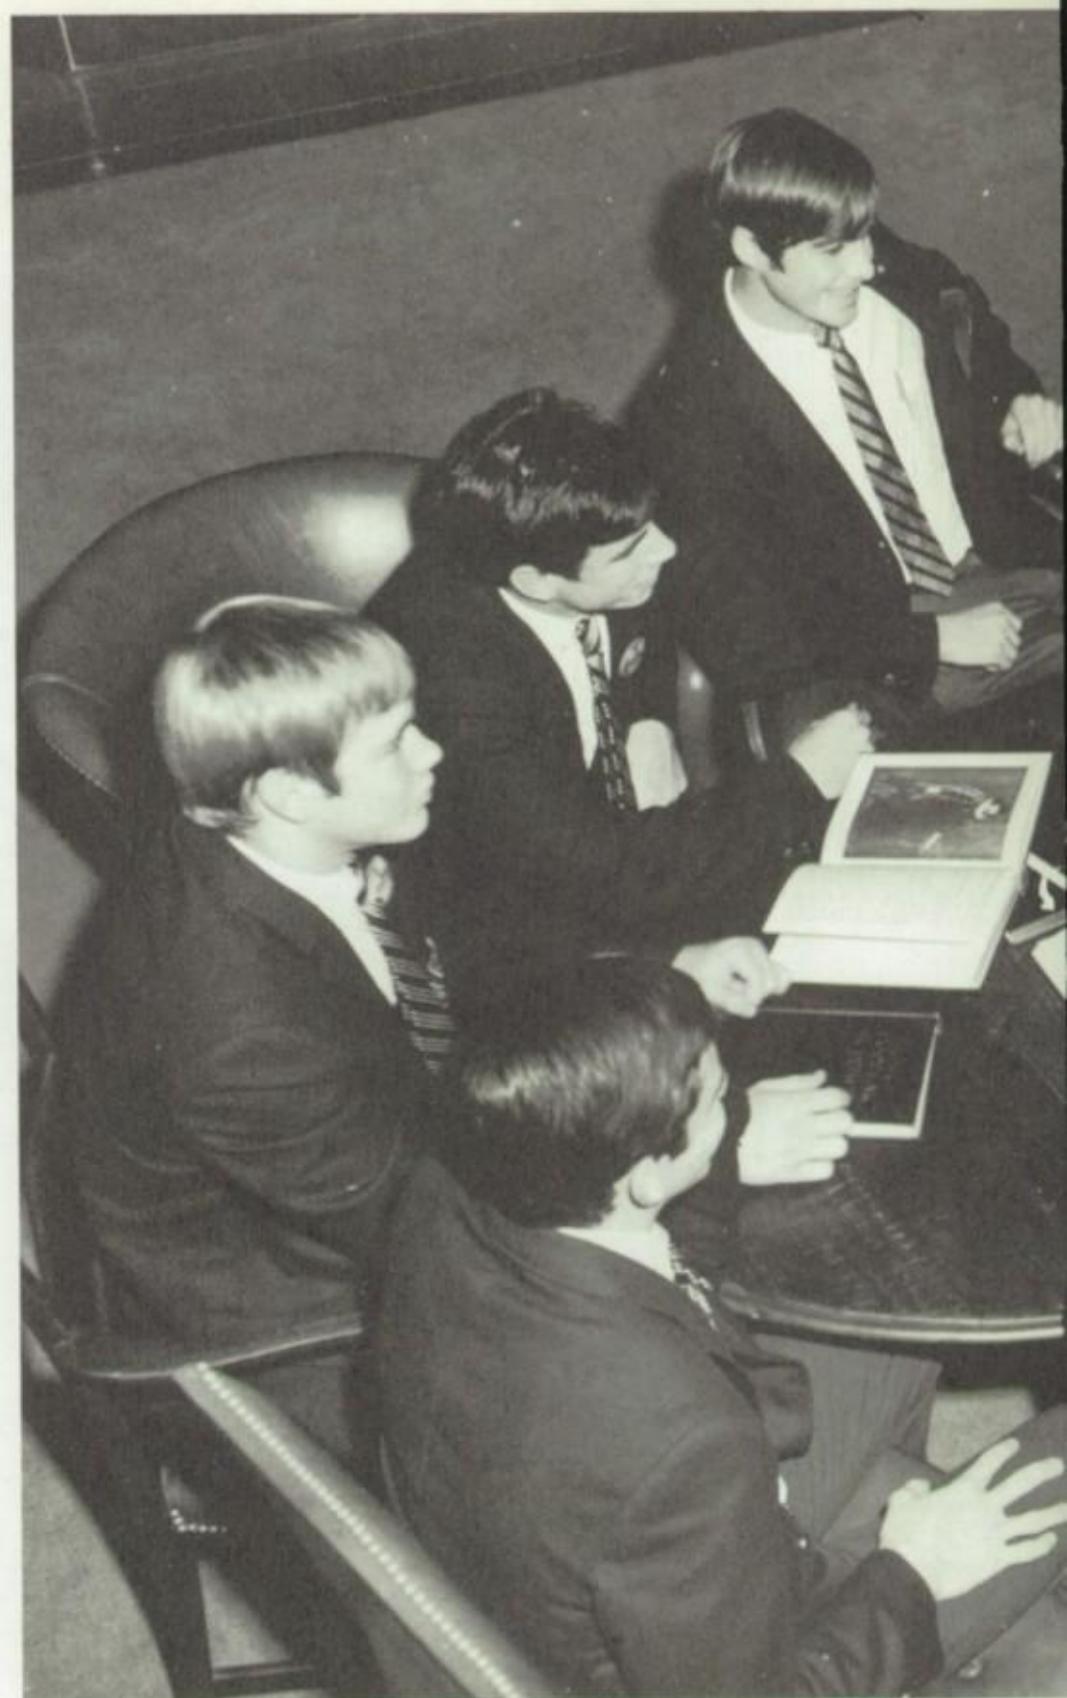

The Sixth Formers all looked bigger then and made sure we all wore our new beanies. Lower than low, tiny second formers, we were warmly welcomed to Main, our new home for a year, and mistakes began immediately. After milk and cookies at the Miller's, the first night Venable unsuccessfully tried to steal one of their cats; Loring Heard lost his glasses and could not find his way out of his room; and Brian Cullman thought Mr. Calahan was the janitor and asked him to take his bags upstairs.

Things straightened out soon, room changes were made, and the famed Lisberger-Gambling suite came into being and lasted through the Fourth Form. Earle occasionally took time off from his studies to tie Nick White to Mr. Miller's door, and Lake pretended to be a prefect. Mr. Anderson, our upstairs hallmaster, soon found that in covering all the rules he had omitted the forbidding of soccer playing on the roof and had to write a few mark slips. But, on special occasions when balcony water fights were not discovered, the hall was treated to cookies and ginger ale on the hall table and sometimes even invited to watch Mr. Anderson's tropical fish.

As the year progressed, Venable became a school legend, Purnell wrote his own comic books, and Kubisch still had not figured out how to spell his name. Rather than learn, he eventually changed the spelling. Psycho Bob Reese already had gone mad and was becoming more and more mysterious; Hall Daily continued to give his backwoods philosophy, and finally decided to go back to the woods; John Anthony expounded on poltergeist and scared Mr. Walsh; Cullman tried to start an underground paper that failed and was frequently invited into the famous Lisberger-Gambling chambers for a hall mugging; Metzler invented new ways of making water bombs and tried them out on Walton and others; and Bob Gamble tried to move his bed down to the hockey rink.

The Rev. Brown never seemed to like our Bible class and threw a temper tantrum when someone said that it was the Beach Boys who had sung the Magnificat. Mr. Anderson made sure we could all do the entire "hic-haec-hoc" in ten seconds flat; Mr. Walsh terrified his entire class until he had us all in his power; Mr. DeVivi showed us how to make lino cuts, and Mr. Paconovsky assured us that someday we'd all be "great men" if we kept our hands out of our pockets. It was a long year, but most of us made it back.

Old and new third formers found themselves in Rolfe or the new, carpeted Foster. Frank Moore, the original Mongolian water torture, attempted a peasants' revolt, Carl Knobloch occasionally sent a shirt to the laundry, and after a few days of total silence, Hindu Bob Ernst spoke. Lake and Reese brought back a favorite old pastime and, using neckties and mop handles, crucified unwanted visitors to their room. Kennedy spent half of the year in the Dean's office and spent the rest of the time stealing Purnell's wrestling and body mags. Oakley Petersen became a fast favorite among the workers and kitchen help and frequently gave them little surprises to brighten up their life. Venable decided soon that life in the steam tunnels was more fun than life in the dorm and dropped out. Bill Hale bought a book on how to play the guitar and tried to learn, but the sounds of sogging wheaties from Mr. Maynard's locker usually drowned him out. Larry Barbiere, all-time swimming champ, left for the Olympics, and someone made a joke about Randy Moe, and he too left. The year was not completely unprofitable, though, and Don Zilkha's sandwich business thrived.

By the Fourth Form, personalities were beginning to emerge, and most of us were under the same roof, wondrous Middle School, so that little was missed. Dick Jones, Kennedy, Coleman, Thompson, and Oakley formed a pre-pipe club clique and had few good words to say. The war cry "Ola-Deepo" was frequently heard from the lips of new boy Bob Douglass and his compatriot, Reddy "Captain Trips" Manniere (not yet famous). Don Karr's organ work was improving rapidly. Bill Donovan jumped into the Varsity Football lineup, while his namesake, Joe "Dufus" Donovan, amazed the world by pulling honor grades in his sleep. "Funky" John Loeffler kept telling everybody he was, and tried to loop the Loop along with Waters, Welling, and other notables no one remembers. Tipson, Wallin, and Rand appeared magically in the Sheperd House Gazette, a musical group that no one heard of or saw, then disappeared into oblivion until Fifth Form.

Paul Gadebusch amazed everyone with his stories of raw sex, and the amazing Andy "Brooks Brothers" McCormick became the school's favorite preppy. Don Raff wrote into Playboy to ask if taking little ash trays or dishes from restaurants and clubs was proper; he unfortunately never received an answer in time. Hugh Bowe told everyone about the California sun and gave out autographed pictures of his surfboard. Jim Jones, Steve Folks, Bill Frayer, and Dave Brown joined Sgt. Beacher's Band and, outside of that, were also seen at the Fourth Form picnic. Don Foster invented THE WHO, or thought he had, and provided his hall with a walking dykefinger. A.J. Gillett appeared in paisley everything and constantly fought with his roommate, Blues Boy Salz. Steve Lisberger's art was becoming better and better and several prizes were won.

Fourth Form was a trying year, though, and many never recovered from it. John Gambling, Oakley Petersen, Carl Knobloch, Juan Rodriguez, Jay Humphrey, Don Karr, David Janes, George Rhodes, and Doug Hill were among the ones who had had enough. Also absent at the start of the Fifth Form year was Psycho Bob's mind.

There can be only two words to describe the Fifth Form: "Oh Wow". Nicky Dembrosky was the school hero. Everyone was screwed-up, up-tight, and nowhere, and the most up-tight people

"WILD" Potter even came back from a weekend stoned on flowers and love-beads. Desmond and Brennan molested "Groovy" Drew McCormick, master of ceremonies at the Saturday seances on the second floor, and often locked him in his closet. And everyone was smiling and nodding.

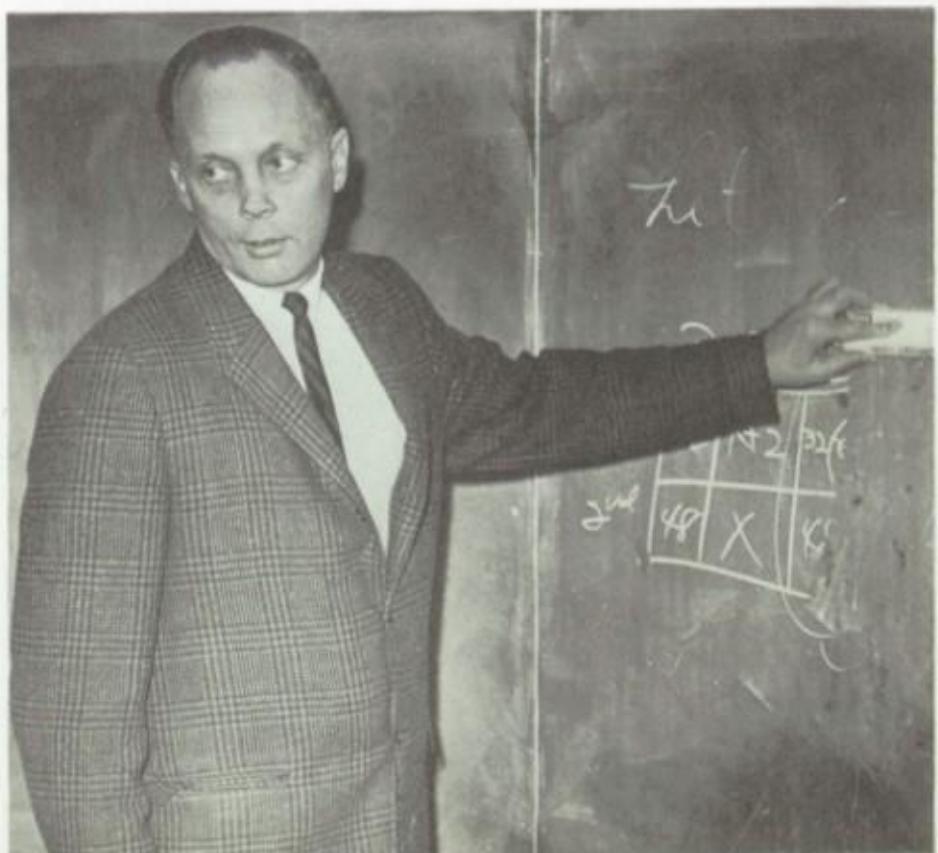

Sixth Form year came and we noticed that the second formers were bigger, and that we weren't as big as the seniors we had remembered. Brad Smith looked almost as asleep as Muir, and the PC seemed to have calmed down. No longer an elite institution, Skippy DeTurk flew into it and Reddy Manniere dropped out. He also quit the PC. Rob Bosworth promised us that Judy Collins would come up and visit him, and Dan Brody promised that our teams would all win . . . some did, helped by the able cheerleading of Kennedy, Manniere, McMunigal, Neale, Dick Jones, and Hazlehurst. Earle wrote prolifically and became quite good at it, and Lisberger's art was wild. Salz continued in his blues fanaticism and got Mr. Beacher hooked. And Leone learned to play the glockenspiel for the band, trailing behind leader Frank Moore, self-proclaimed as first to rule the world.

Choate gave us Rusty McClintic, who was never known to make a foolish move, Rye gave us Steve Galey, champion wrestler, and out of the hills of became leaders. And they were good. Morgan Muir and Tim Thompson smiled and nodded and everyone else smiled back at them and nodded. Oh Wow. Desmond, Smith, and Brennan kept the soccer team moving, and Dubon, Hale, Coombs, Pollock, Wallin, Foster, Fox, and George "Which way did they go" Clarke made up a large part of the football squad. Dave Stevens kept appearing in a triangular hat asking for a white horse and finally got one in the form of The News. Earle, Loeffler, and Dufus Donovan, and other b'ballers kept the Dean busy on the court and off . . . certain members had a habit, of, well, breaking training rules. And Bob Earle's graceful prose was read in all three publications. Josh Bill debated everyone he saw and was almost sent back to Kansas by irate pipe-clubbers. Roy Rike was hung up on maps and soul brothers, and conspired with the inscrutable Frank Moore. Tipson, Wallin, and Wendell wrote and sang in the basement of the chapel and anywhere else that they could. Everyone was in everyone else's band until everyone finally gave up.

Pete "Honcho" Henderson and Andy Neale were always there when you needed them, and Tim Coleman, Kennedy, Dick Jones, Jim Thomas, Lisberger, Manniere, Douglass, Psycho, and Leone were usually around. Jesse "BORN TO BE Appalachia, Frank Robinson wandered through the wilderness to a hill in Pennsylvania.

The News became controversial. Cullman wrote a drug editorial that had trustees hopping and was temporarily kicked off the News for alleged obscenity. Editor Dave Stevens (known to his friends as Mr. Stevens) came down off his white horse and laughed at the cartoon about himself. Editors are human.

Leone became the only National Merit semi-finalist, and Postmaster Dufus Donovan continued to get honor grades without coming out of his coma, while his roommate, Frank Commons was busy collecting the 1:00 A.M. mail. Pete Bosworth had some troubles about how far into your mind town permission goes, but all came out okay. Pierson, Pete Smith, Herbrandson, Loeffler, Tipson, and Ashbey gave The Hill, Hilltone music, and Tom Clark found that his skates had rusted onto his feet. Dave Andersen ran around trying to get the Dial ready and finally got it together, and Lake, Funkhouser, President Muir, and other student council members pushed through new rules.

Now, hopefully, college and farewell to Hill and the people we knew. Now, college . . . four more years, more perhaps . . . another cycle. If it's going to be anything like the last four or five years . . .

The 1968 Hill Football Team slightly bettered the 1 and 7 season record of '67 with a 1-6-1 record. Hopes were high after the opening victory against Blair, but throughout the rest of the season the team could never seem to jell. The Blue and Gray came very close to winning its second game against Penn Charter as they dominated play in a fiercely fought contest until the last 43 seconds when Penn Charter scored on a series of quick passes and booted the extra point to obtain a frustrating 7-6 victory.

The fine passing of Joey Chilberg along with the sticky hands and excellent speed of John Hyatt, Page Warde, Neil Pollock, and Bill Donovan made up the Hill's aerial attack. Captain Andy Wallin at strong-side tackle and strong-side guard, Tony DuBon, opened holes for the running game, while George Clarke, Rick Coombs, Rich Cassel, and Theo Killion filled out the line. John Bodley and Bill Hale carried the workload of running chores for the team's pro-formation offense.

The Hill did not always play the quality of football of which it was capable, but the team proved it was formed from a rugged group in the final Lawrenceville game. The team rose to the occasion and despite key injuries to DuBon and Hyatt, everyone filled in and played to and/or above their limits. Bad breaks, like three fumbles within 20 yards of the goal line hurt and frustrated The Hill. Fritz Riesner at linebacker, George Bernard with his taped hand resembling a club, Bill Hale running from the fullback spot, and Captain Andy Wallin blocking enormous holes in the Larry line, all played with a fighting spirit which was stilled only by the final gun.

Records are important, but any boy on next year's team who was at the Lawrenceville game will remember one thing — KILL THE 'VILLE!

SOCCE

The 1968 edition of Hill soccer was successful, but it did not play consistently up to its championship potential. How can you outplay and tie the West Chester Freshman team, a recent NCAA National champion, and then turn around and lose to a nickel-and-dime Girard College outfit with :38 left to play? The key was momentum: Captain Jack Brennan and other senior veterans got the team up for the big ones and we played well, usually turning out a romp. On other occasions, we would have folded and lost to a Convent's J.V.

The strength of the team was in the senior halfbacks and fullbacks. Pete Smith, Mike Desmond and Jim Metzler rounded out a halfback line that could start for almost anybody, and the fullbacks Pete Welling, Alistair Gillette and Jack Brennan were consistently sharp. (Gillette was just fine until he got his picture in THE NEWS!)

Coach Lehrbach's ability to groom outstanding goalies paid off again this year as John Loeffler, assisted by Bruce Maronpot, finally proved that he's not all that lucky: just good.

Junior Chris White was the axis of the offensive punch, netting as many as four goals in one game. Ireland and Stenson supplemented the line and will be effective in the future. Ray Waters, the one senior lineman, was potent in that no one could ever tell which one of his moves he would use on the wing.

Overall, the year was a valuable experience for everyone in the program: we won when we felt we had to win and we were able to watch the development of what should be an outstanding 1969 squad.

The 1968 cross-country team had the talent and the will to be one of the greatest collection of runners The Hill has ever seen. There were a few major misfortunes like Captain Russell's sprained ankle during the second week of school, but the little problems were what really hurt the team: minor injuries, colds, and poor summer conditioning. These things plague every athletic team, but the thinclads seemed to get more than their share.

In preseason work, 5th former Dave Zimmerman was by far the leader; he seemed to have undergone extensive training throughout the summer and was in top condition. At the first meet, however, captain Russell came through and won his first and last cross-country meet. As the season wore on, Warren Acker ran consistently well and led the team for the duration of the season. Reese Cumming, captain-elect, had a poor start but improved rapidly to contribute many needed points to the team.

The highlight of the season came on Nov. 9: Lawrenceville. The team, led by Russell's pep-rally "hatred," and the anticipation of a strong group of Larries, ran on almost 100% psyche. Acker won in 12:02 followed by Russell at 12:03. The blue victory was not won here, however, but by Cumming, Molino, Givens, Zimmerman, Wray, Sturges and the middle-men in the race.

Next year, "Coach" Little may have to trade his computer for a whip. His runners will have to work hard to live up to the talent they possess, but with rigorous training and a bit of aid from "bicycle" Ruth, '69 Cross-Country should not lose a single meet.

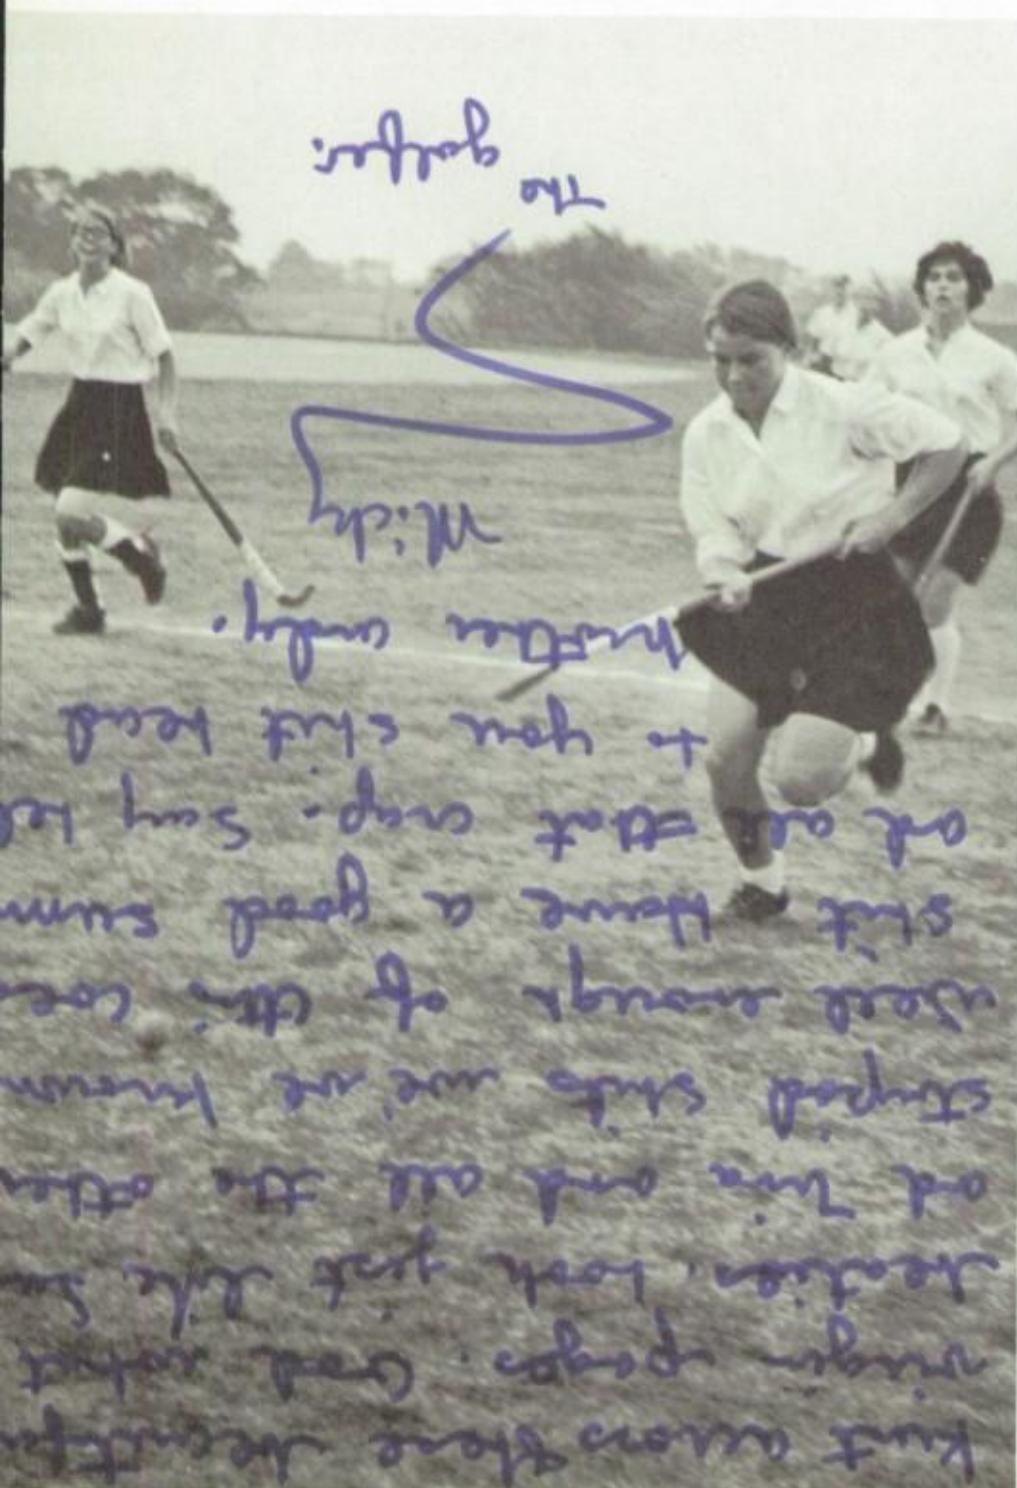

FIELD HOCKEY

The Blues ended a very successful season by defeating Lawrenceville in the final game of the season. The impressive 6-0-1 record established the team as the number one squad in the Philadelphia area, always the field hockey powerhouse of the nation. The team was built around five returning letter winners, and the spirited newcomers from the J.V. also added to the overall strength. In the first game of the season the offensive line of Layman, Ramsdell, Karver, and Ellis penetrated the Peddie line time after time. It was to remain like this for the rest of the year as the offense scored while the defense held the opponents to a total of four goals. The team rolled over Friend's Central, Lower Merion, and Haverford in overwhelming victories. Faced with a tie in the Perkiomen game, coach Ruth replied that the tiring season was showing its effects upon the team.

Although the team was up for the L'ville game, they were disappointed that they won by only two goals. One player said that the student body was at fault for its lack of support. However true this may be, we hope that the school will really support the team throughout the next year.

Sandy Groff - There not to high quality - more quantity.

L'ville Weekend

Never again will there be a week like there was before this year's L'ville game. Through the posters, spontaneous cheering in the dining room, the Soul Victor, and Mr. Montgomery, a spirit was instilled in newboys and old. The school was up for the games, and the cheer of Bernard and Pollock and Russell's inside views of distance running showed the school that they had the spirit. And as everyone walked away from the Donner Hall patio, we all wondered if the spirit could last until the next day.

The next afternoon the spirit was still alive as the soccer field was encircled. The Hill quickly showed its strength by stifling the Larries defense and controlling the ball at midfield. Then in the second quarter White headed the ball into the nets for the first score of the game.

The spirit was up for the football and cross country contests as we marched onto the Dell Field.

The stands erupt as the Hill goes ahead on a Chilberg-Ward pass with a minute to go before the half.

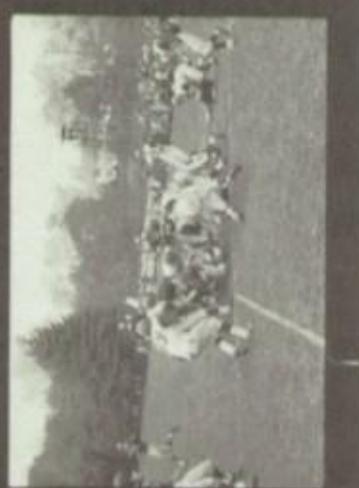

Cross Country

Though Captain Russell waved the victory sign as the teams raced by the stands, everyone knew that the race would be close. The overall pace was frantic, and as the lead runners rounded the Dell, Acker and Russell broke Burdick's back with an unbelievable kick. Acker won, followed closely by Russell, but Cumming, Zimmerman, Bill, and Molino provided the all important points that gave The Hill Victory.

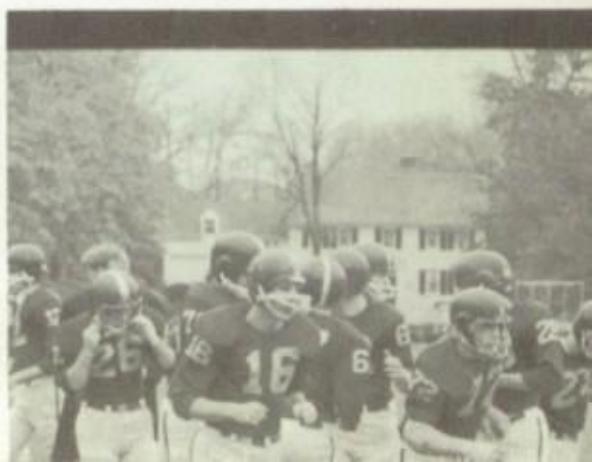

Hill 26 L'ville 29

The Hill continued to drive against L'ville, but costly fumbles and a few mistakes allowed the Larries to come back on the scoreboard. The spirit of the cheerleaders, the crowd, and the players themselves was not enough to regain the lead.

1969 was a rebuilding year for Coach Ronnie's forces. Stripped of four starters from last year's 14-5 club, the Hawks began with five returning lettermen and a host of untested rookies. This year's team lacked height, but John Kelly, a 6' 2" jumping-jack from Fort Worth, Texas, did his best to offset the Hill's deficit under the boards. Pure hustle marked this year's high points: a comeback victory over a highly-touted Episcopal squad, two hard-fought victories over Valley Forge Military Academy, and a tremendous effort by the Hawks to defeat Admiral Farragut Academy.

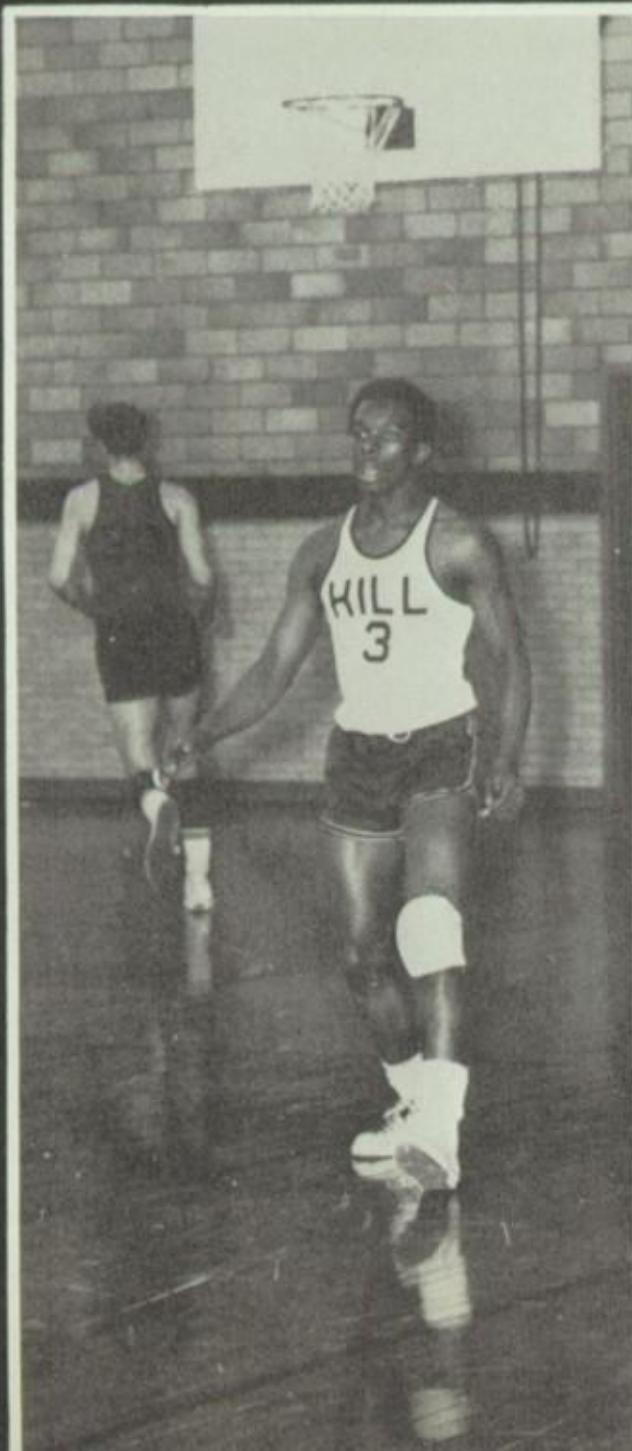

Injuries played a large role in this season's record as high-scorer, John Hyatt, suffered a dislocated finger, and Captain Mike Desmond was continually plagued by small ailments. Bob Earle had some great shooting sprees, but even his concentrated effort could not offset the opponents' ever present inside strength. Joe Donovan played well from the outside all season, and rookies Gordy Arnold and Rich Pickard performed some excellent ball-handling for the Hawks.

The 1969 club had a three-game winning streak which featured some of the greatest shooting in Hill School history. Then the injuries struck, and the team slumped into a long losing streak. Probably the greatest asset of this club was its desire. They pulled together when the going got tough and gave probably the best prep team in the East, Williamson Trade, quite a scare. Credit belongs to the five returning lettermen, John Hyatt, John Loeffler, Joe Donovan, Bob Earle, and Captain Mike Desmond, who played their hearts out and kept the spirit alive. The Hill basketball program will benefit from this season, not in its record, but in its theme. Coach Ronnie gave all of the players a chance this year, and in so doing, they gained valuable game experience and the desire to win. Next year the basketball schedule should be even tougher, but as we all know, "when the going gets tough, the tough get going."

This year, under new head coach, Mr. Lea, and his able assistant, Dr. Pierson, the hockey team aspired to a good season and was moderately successful. Led by captain Tom Clark and a host of returning lettermen, the team invaded Milton for the annual tournament. However, to the dismay of the team, it turned out to be a three game "bummer", though the team gained experience that would prove invaluable for the rest of the season.

Much of the impetus for the team was provided by a nucleus of sixth formers. By mid-season Captain Clark had already notched a dozen goals and had inspired the team with his leadership and desire. Speedy "Big T" Tim Thompson thrilled the crowd on many occasions with his tricky stickhandling and blistering shot. Pete Pierson came up with a number of key goals, and Tim Coleman proved his merit on the line in a number of games. Bob Gamble slipped many a puck past a defenseman with his elusive moves, and Welling and Wallin proved essential to our defense.

Underperformers also played an important part in this year's team. Sophomore Gerry Stenson completed his first year in goal, and Don Lewis together with fifth former Austin Tilghman completed our defense. The all sophomore "Scooter" line of Mike Elkind, Pete Ridder, and Barry McCarthy also turned in creditable performances, contributing a great deal of hustle and drive.

After the early setbacks of the Milton Tournament the team bounced back with victories over such traditional Pennsylvania rivals as Wissahickon and Villanova. The rest of the season was one of ups and downs with occasional sparks of brilliance and concentrated team efforts. The record book will not show this team as a great one, but their hustle and desire will surely remain as an inspiration to next year's promising team.

SWIMMING

A number of specialists came together in November to work to their physical capacities and channel their swimming talents into making their young team something of which the Hill community could be proud. Although the season record turned out to be an apparently discouraging 6-8, consider for a moment that most of the team members were fourth formers who will be returning next year.

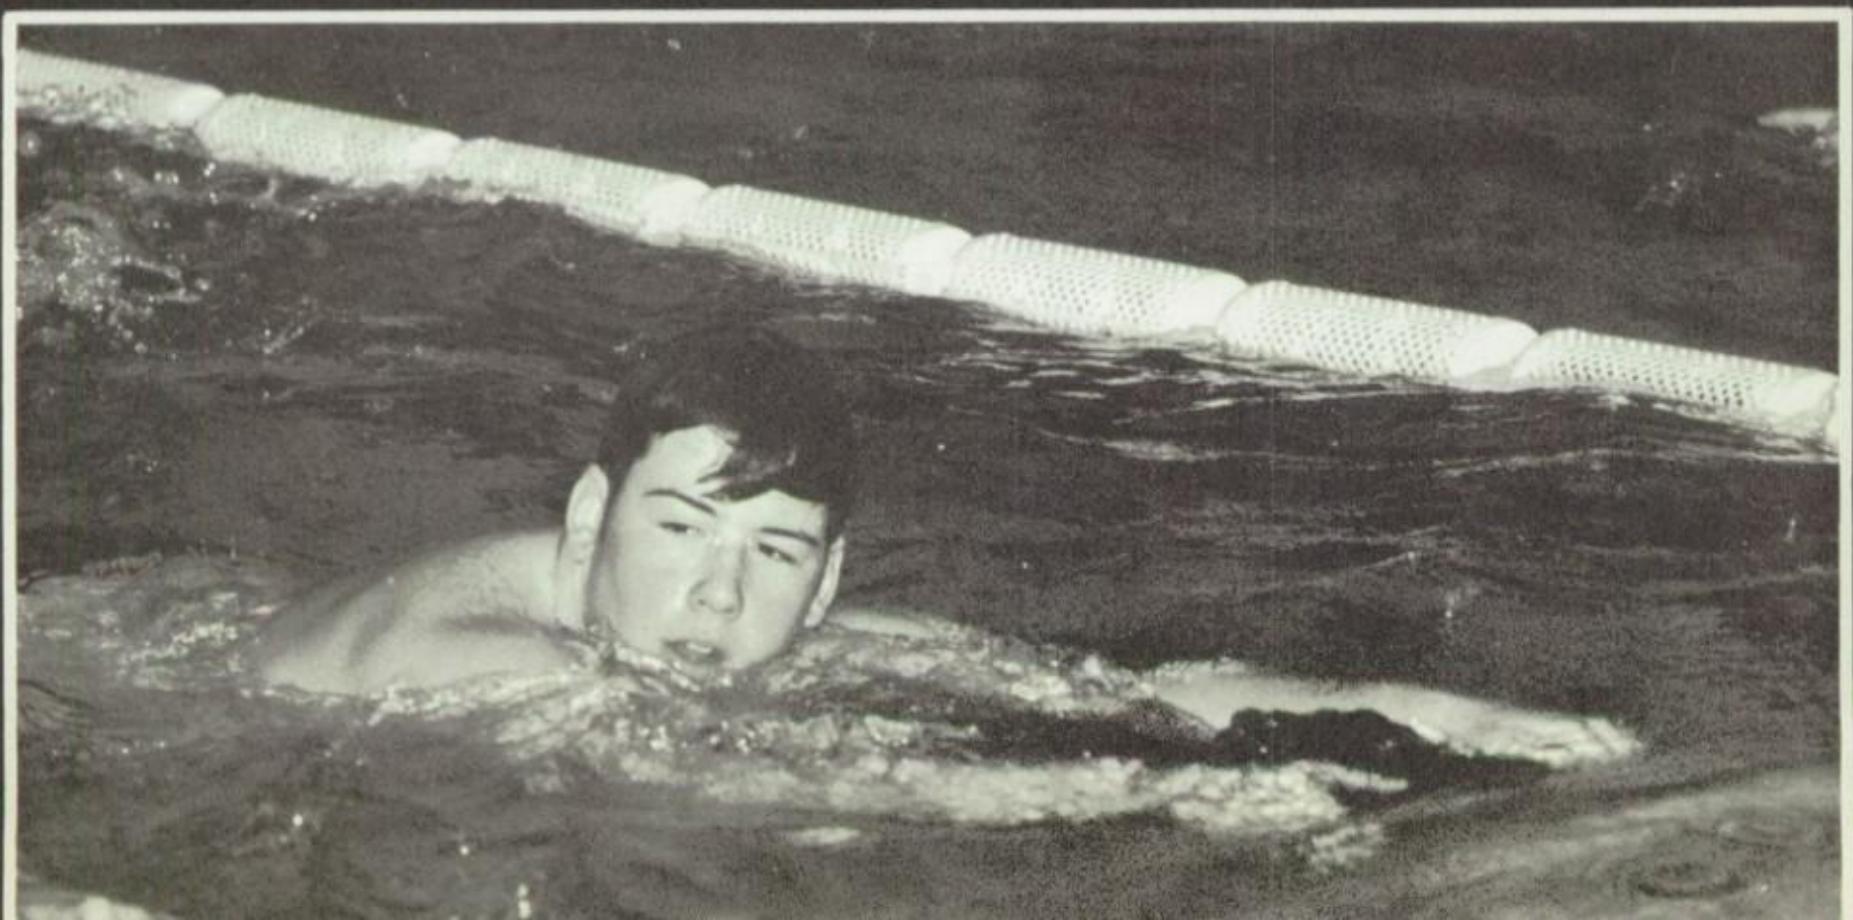

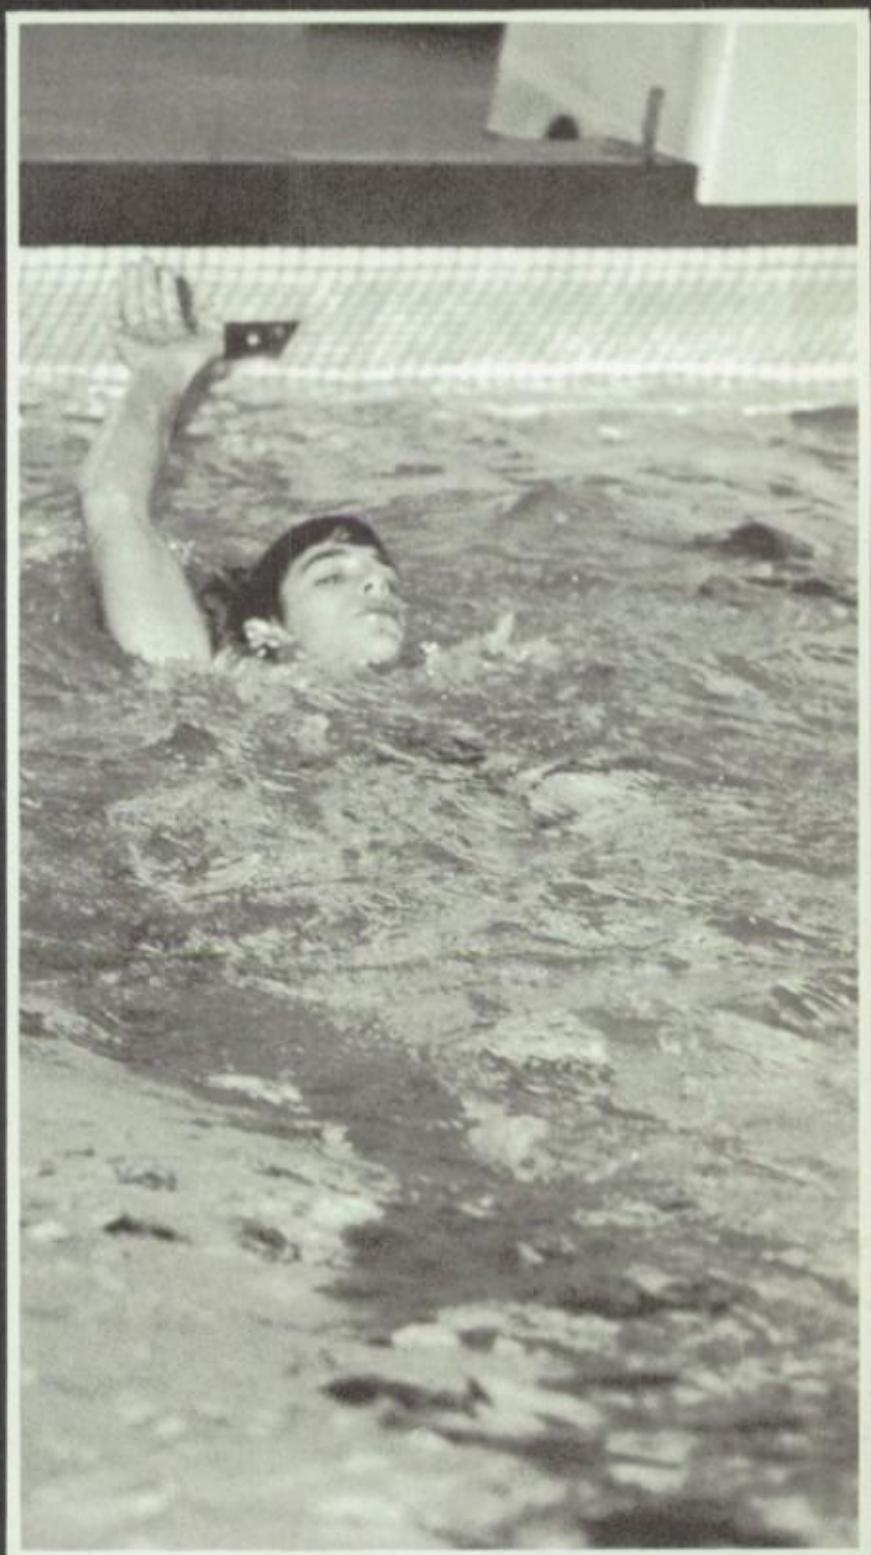

The team was led by Captain John Kubisch and Dave Hutchinson who dominated the shorter freestyle events. "Bos" Boslego turned in incredible times in the breaststroke and was the team's leading scorer. Derrick Robinson often contributed valuable points in diving, and Mike Waltemyer swam consistently well in the backstroke and medley. The nucleus of the team was made up of underperformers Zeke Reinecke, Al Swett, Bucky Gwynne, Gary Hughes, Ed Mullineaux, and Tony Rentschler, who all rapidly improved their times during the season.

Although this year's team was extremely well-balanced, it lacked the experience and super-stars needed to be great. Such powerhouses as Lawrenceville and Yale Freshmen tacked on humiliating defeats, but the team continued to bounce back against such formidable foes as Haverford and Malvern. Next year's team will possess great depth and experience with a host of returning lettermen who have high aspirations for an excellent season.

W R E S T L I N G

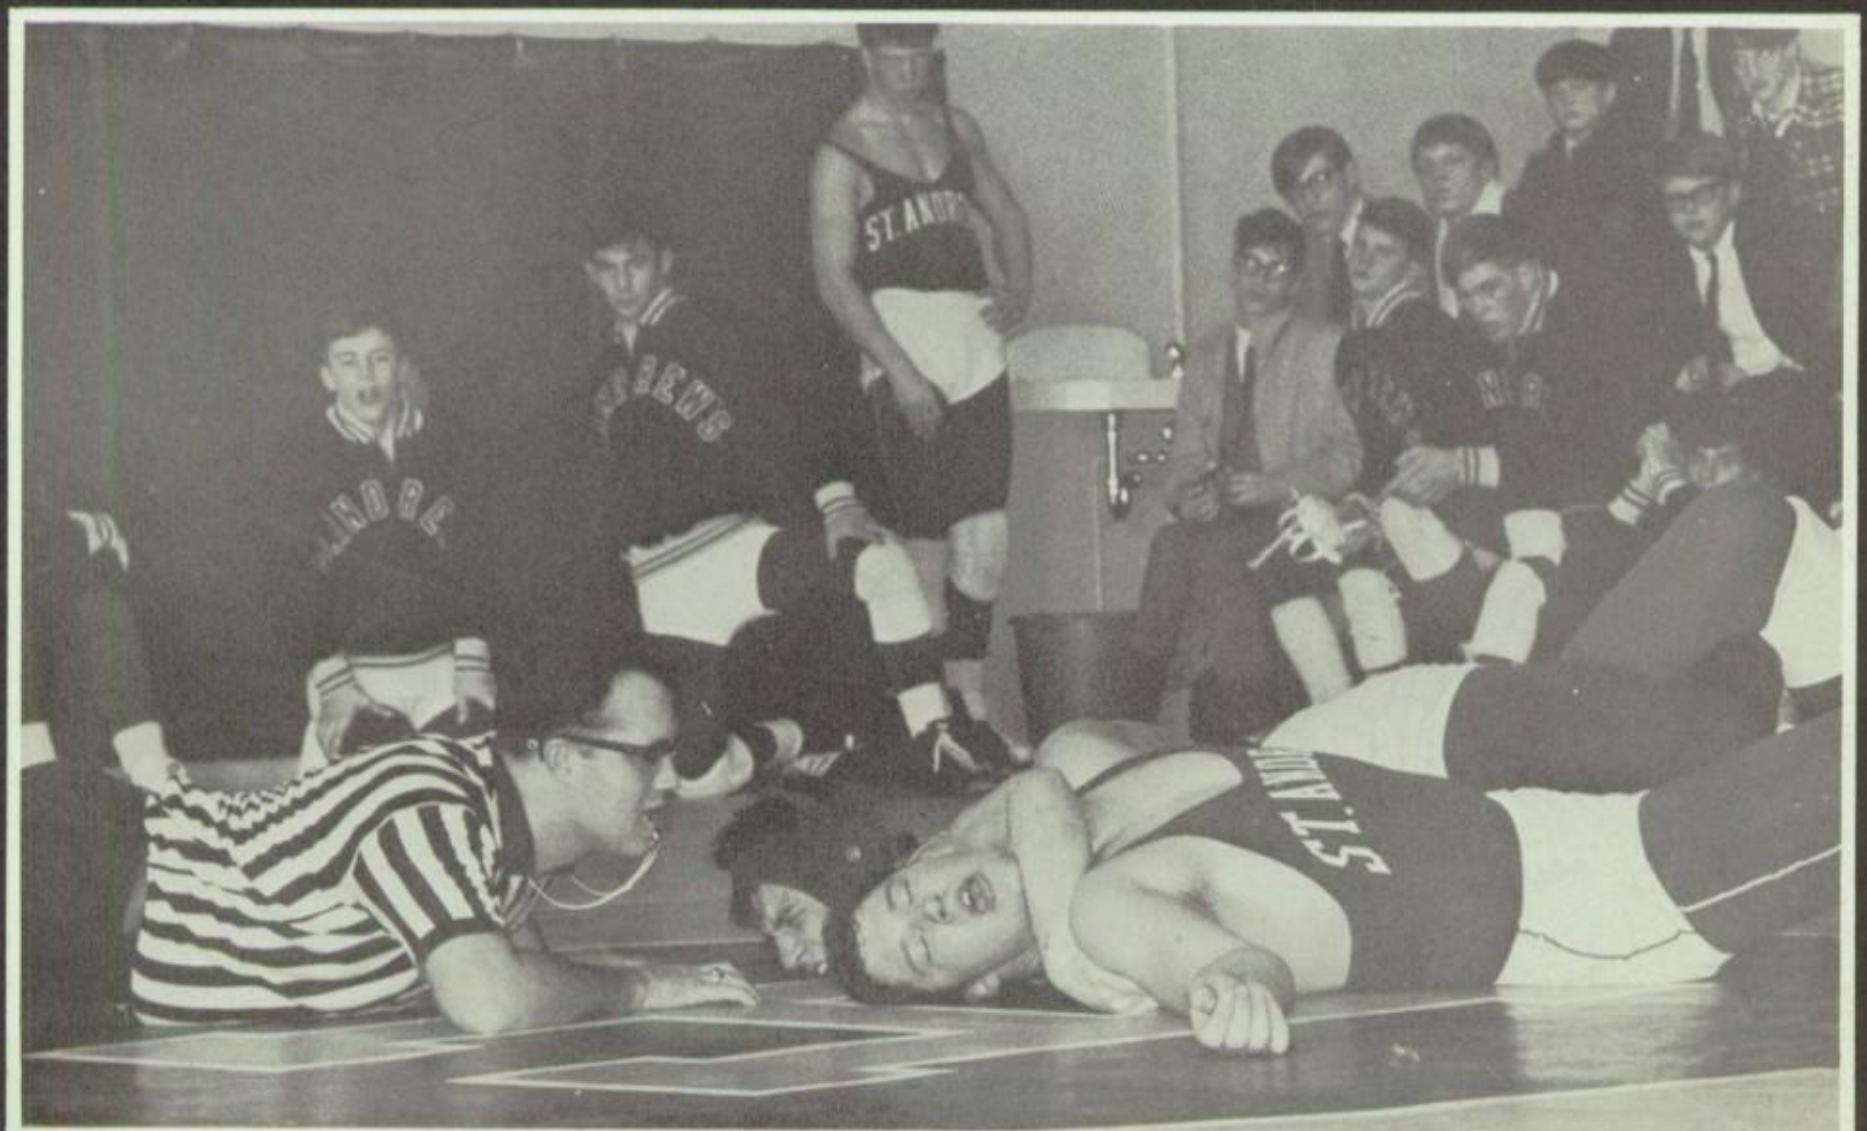

The '68-'69 wrestling team was another example of Mr. Bissell's fine coaching. The team was centered around a nucleus of eleven returning varsity lettermen who were aided by some outstanding new boy underperformers in the lower weight classes.

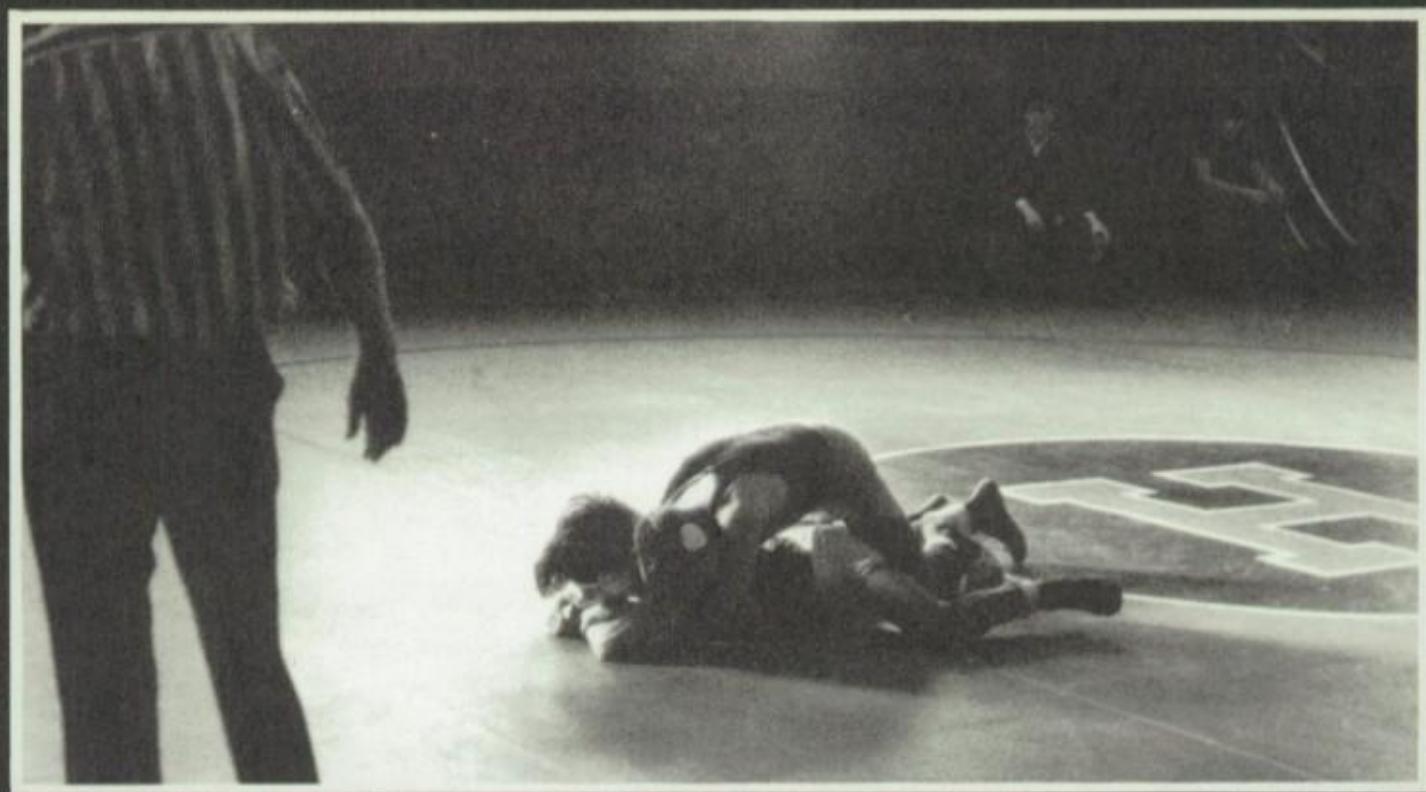

In a change from the notoriously weak standard, the light-weights were a badly needed asset with third former Jerry Butler and fourth former Doug Schutte often accomplishing the task of giving the team an early lead. At 114 lbs. was a more experienced George Baker whose record vastly improved. Mike Stahovich at 6' 1" and 123 lbs. seemed to unfortunately meet the opposing captain every week, but always made a respectable showing.

Early in the season the main strength of the team came in the middle weight classes from 127 through 165 lbs. with outstanding performances turned in by Kit Kuntze, Rich Cassel, Tom Brennan, Rob Spalding, and Chappy LeBlond. The surge of wins in these brackets won many of the tough early matches against the perennially strong District 11 schools, but a midseason party resulted in a scrambling of the line-up which hurt the team's overall strength. At 180 lbs. Captain Tony DuBon suffered only a single loss, and wrestled fantastically all season. Capping the line-up, Bill Hale was often stuck with the unpleasant job of wrestling heavyweights who were often fifty or more pounds heavier than he, but he succeeded in compiling an amazing winning record.

Taking the youngest team ever to the Lehigh Interscholastics, the Hill did surprisingly well and ended up taking third place among the largest number of entries in the history of the tournament. In the 106 lb. class Doug Schutte did a remarkable job by taking second place and getting farther than any other Hill grappler in the tournament. Rich Cassel, Bill Hale, and Tony DuBon all overcame heartbreaking defeats to fight their way through the grinding consolations, and all earned well-deserved third places. A unified team effort by the Bissellmen almost won them the coveted trophy once again, but this was not the year to be as the Blues were edged out by Milton Hershey and St. Benedict's.

National Prep Tournament — 3rd place

CAPTAIN DuBON

WINTER TRACK

This year's Winter Track team was simply great. Why? There are almost as many reasons as there are runners. Made up mainly of the infamous Cross Country team, good conditioning and strong desire paved the way to success. Captain Warren Acker became an unbelievable quarter-miler, as he worked his time down to a rare 51.2 seconds. Joe Chilberg managed to haul his football hulk over the hurdles, as well as the high jump, and broad jump to become the team's leading scorer. Page "Diggy Venn" Warde burned up the boards in the 60 yard dash to the tune of 6.4 seconds, and the two mile — the insane race to nowhere — was endured by Kevin Wray and "Baby face" Cumming. Alan Russell barely missed the half mile record with a time of 1:58.7, and "the beard" Molino wiped most of his opposition in the mile as he ran consistently in the 4:30's.

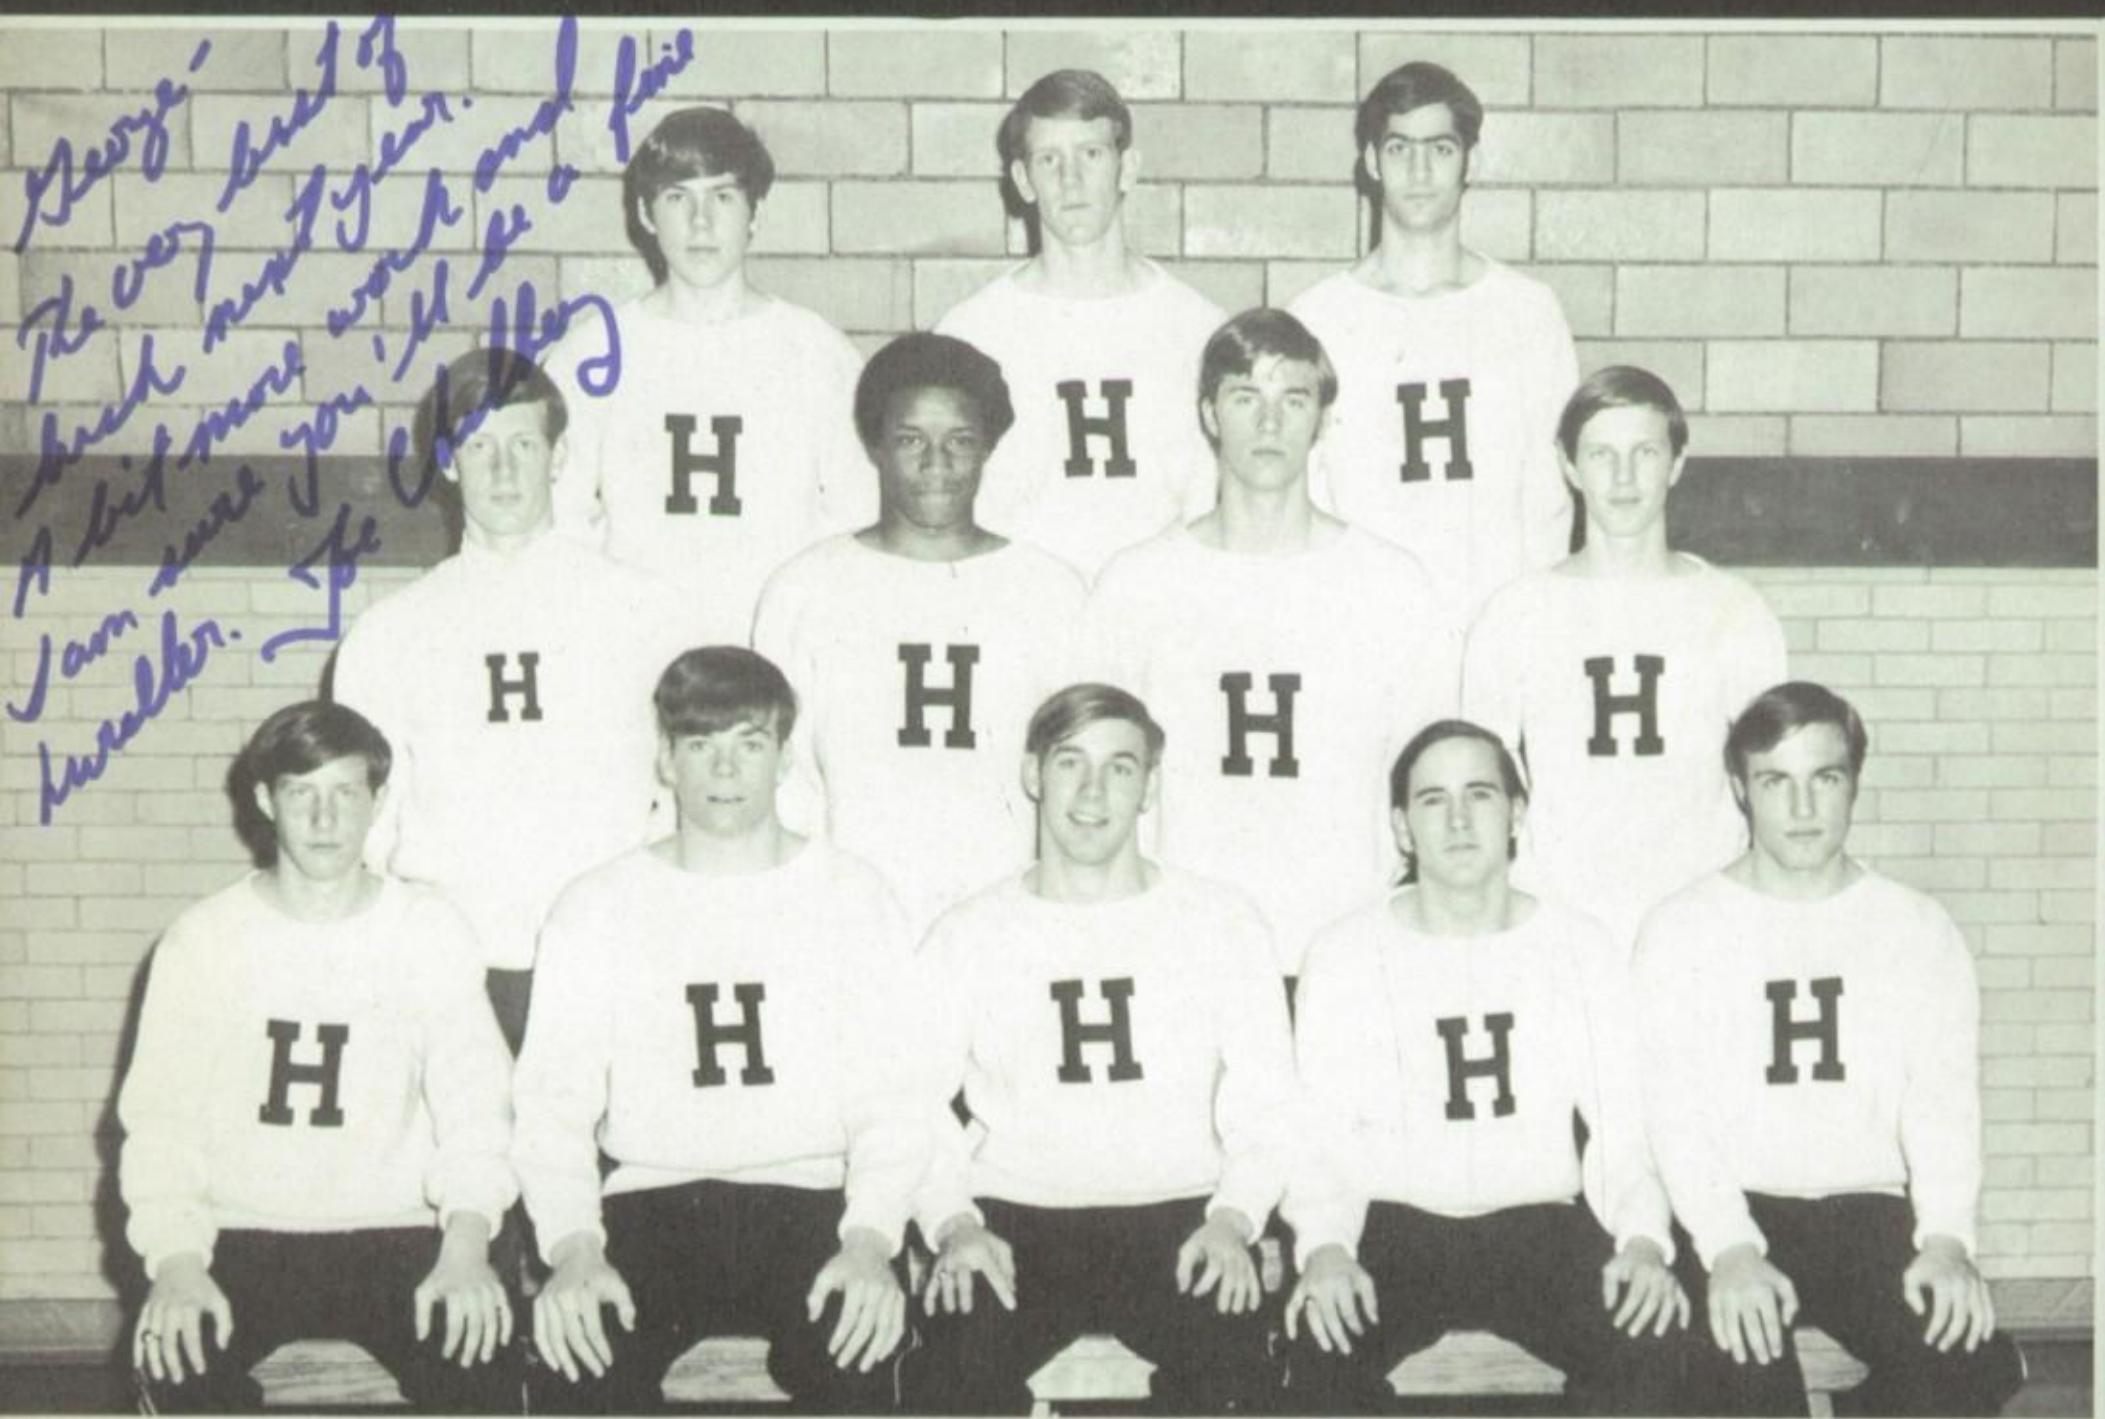

The two obvious highlights of the season were the Greater Philadelphia meet and the Lawrenceville meet. From Franklin Field the Jacksonians brought home ten gold and four bronze medals, while breaking three meet records. At Lawrenceville, the Hill annihilated their greatest rivals by a score of 63-29. The only Larry first was in the shot put as the Blues held their own in the field events, and dominated the track events with clean sweeps in the mile, two mile, and 60 yard dash. A great day!

The graduating seniors will take a lot from the team, but not everything. Fifth former Joe Holland will keep up in the hurdles, Warde will continue to turn back all opposition in the 60 yard dash, and Molino, Cumming, and Wray are potential record holders in the distances.

Although lacking the depth of this year's team, hopes for another successful season appear bright.

The 1968—1969 Varsity Squash Season was surprisingly successful. The team's 9-3 record was one of Hill's best, and it is of special note that six of the seven team members were inexperienced at the varsity level before this year. Coach Jousson never ceased to marvel at the young team's persistent habit of winning and their great team spirit.

Peter Smith's devotion to the sport and leadership as captain of the team were inspiring forces during the daily practices and strenuous calisthenics. Pete and Mark O'Brien, who played consistently in the second position, were the only sixth formers on the team. These two players will be remembered for their great spirit and promotion of team unity.

The greatest strength of the team lay in its lower positions which were ably filled by Sandy Groff, Chris White, and Bruce Maronpot. Key positions for many team victories, however, were the two middle men, Craig Arnold and Diderick Finne.

The 5-4 win over the Princeton Freshmen was the most significant team victory of the season. Pete Smith turned in the most exciting individual match when he defeated Penn Charter's first man by a single point and, subsequently, secured a 7-0 Hill victory.

Disappointments came with the two losses to Penn Freshmen, but manager Henry Purnell's match with a local young West Point lovely proved to be the most memorable event of the season.

Debate Club

Ever expanding, this year's debate team grew not only in size, but increased its activity and scope in forensics.

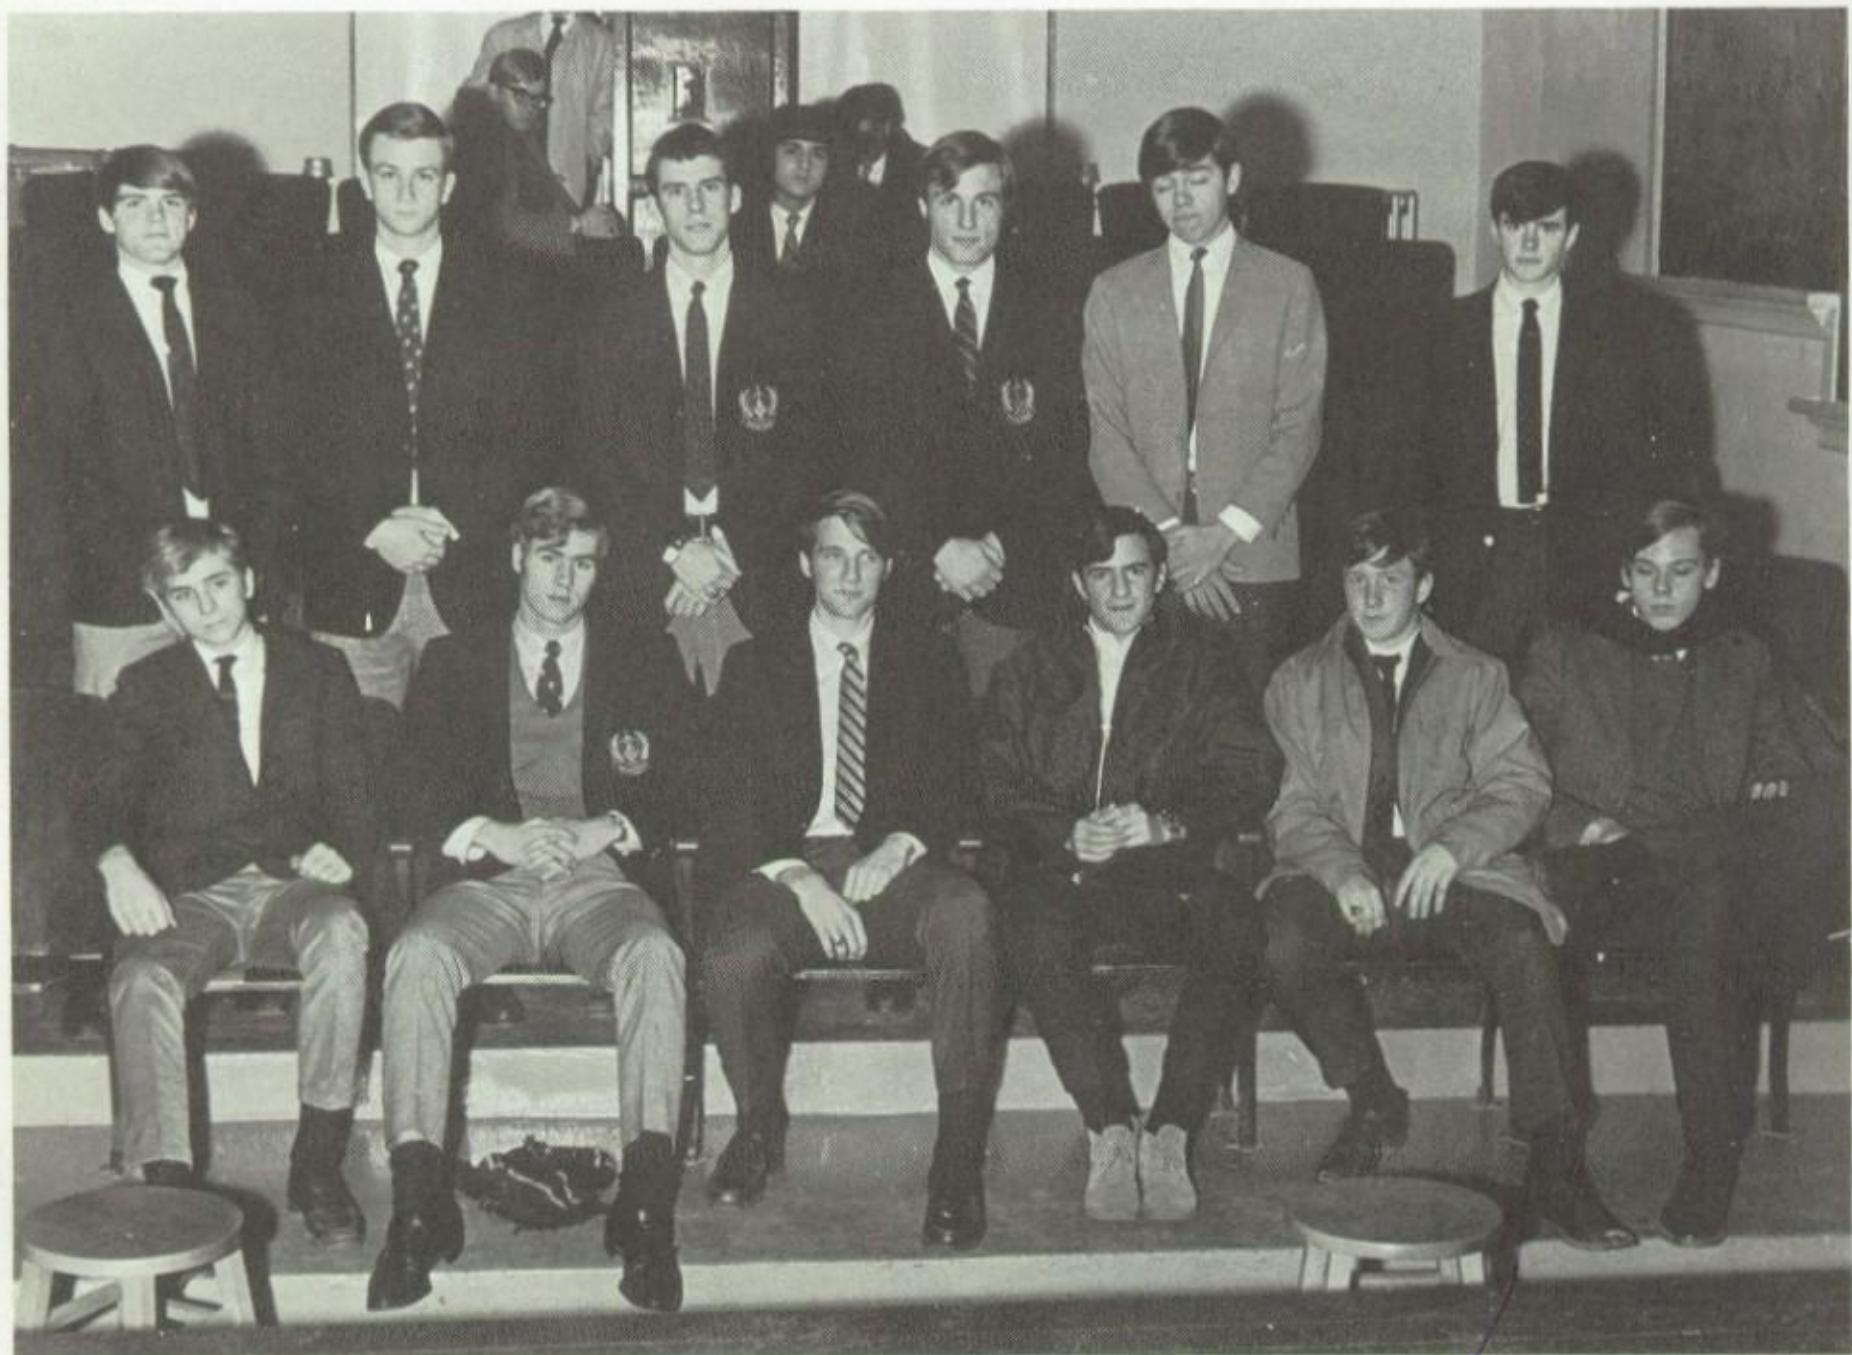

Under the leadership of president Don Foster and the able assistance of chairmen Tom Dann and Nick Ulmer, the team was one of the more successful members of the Pennsylvania Suburban debate Capital League, accumulating a 21-9 record, which is an admirable slate for a new member.

Youth was a dominant factor in this year's success. There were only 5 sixth formers on the 33 man squad. In years to come, Mr. Ruth, the faculty advisor, will have a crop of experienced veterans. Leading the charge were fourth formers Josh Foldes and Frank Runyeon, while fifth formers George Sumers, Steve Quinn, Dann, and Ulmer will add the steady hand of leadership next year.

Debates against other schools were a dominant part of this year's schedule. The number of inter-school debates was pushed up to eight and, against such opposition as Lawrenceville, Westtown, Valley Forge, and Garrison Forest, Hill won seven. Although the sixth form tandem of Josh Bill and Foster was the leading team, losing only once, underformers filled up the remaining slots.

This year's was a first-rate debate squad, and a proud one: two qualities everyone can expect to find in teams to come.

Student Council

After awakening from a century of complacent passiveness, this year's Student Council became a more active part of the Hill community. The initial aim of this year's council was to destroy its mythical image as a secret clique of selective members which does not really represent or support the majority opinions of the entire student body. The committeemen and officers were encouraged by Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Ronnie to come into a closer contact with their whole forms, seeking out the gripes and irritations which are rife around the campus.

Progress was made in opening the channels of communication as the meetings became inundated with ideas and changes. Under the able leadership of Morgan Muir, privileges such as more town permission, more liberal dance regulations, and more weekends were granted. An ease in haircuts came with the emphasis on neatness, but not without warnings of what tortures would be instituted on any long-haired campus hippies. New ideas for bridging the generation gap were in the form of student-faculty forums and student-Trustee meetings. Committees were formed to study the dining room situation, and new programs were discussed for independent study.

Steps were made in the right direction, but progress was slow as the clinging vines of conservatism held on. Discussions often splintered into arguments over trivial matters, and much valuable time was wasted. Many good ideas were presented and more changes took place than in the past, but next year's Student Council must be more energetic in leading the school out of its apathy toward a more liberalized progress.

Hill Christian Association

This year's H.C.A. was one of change. The emphasis this year was placed on social work which was different in that the association didn't concern itself with the wide variety of programs that it has in the past. The committee, made up of Morgan Muir, Dave Stevens, Steve Lake, Warren Acker, Tom Clark, Tom McCandlish, and Carl Kelly decided to drop certain programs such as the annual clothing drive, and to everyone's surprise the fund drive was just as successful this year without the usual mafia tactics. Largely through the efforts of the committee and the club adviser, Reverend Brown, the H.C.A. was reorganized and, starting next year, all the social work will be under the control of the Social Service Board made up of students and advised by members of the faculty. All in all, the H.C.A. of the 1968-1969 year proved to be one of activity.

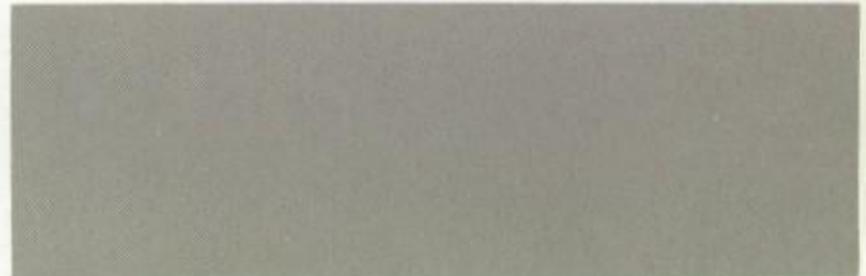

Classics Club

This was one of the most outstanding years in recent history for the Classics Club, one of the few clubs in the school dedicated to higher knowledge. Even the club's adviser, Dr. Grotin, had to admit that it was a vintage year: the opportunities the members had to see and hear outside speakers were numerous. At the advice of Dr. Grotin, the club widened its scope by joining a Philadelphia branch of the American Archaeological Society, enabling the members to see regular lectures at the University of Pennsylvania. Within the club Dr. Grotin read a lecture entitled "The Theory of Classical Education" which he had recently given to a convention of fellow classicists. Also, in the fall term, Wayne Maxson and Bill Libby, classics scholars of the class of 67' came up from Princeton to show slides of Wayne's trip to Greece last summer. The highlight of the year was the visit to the school of Professor John J. O'Meara, a widely known classicist and expert on St. Augustine, who lectured on Virgil's Aeneid. Tentatively scheduled for the spring term are tapes of the 1958 Classics Paideia Conference, talks by officers Joe Donovan, Bob Earle, Keven McMunigal, and God knows what else. The year did have its downs, though; Mr. Richards became disgusted at a group of angry young classicists milling around in the department room in Hillside (whose refrigerator do you think that is?) and Leone decided not to come to any more meetings after the elections, but it was still the best and most productive year in a long time.

Gun Club

Raff, Hutchinson, W., Sumers

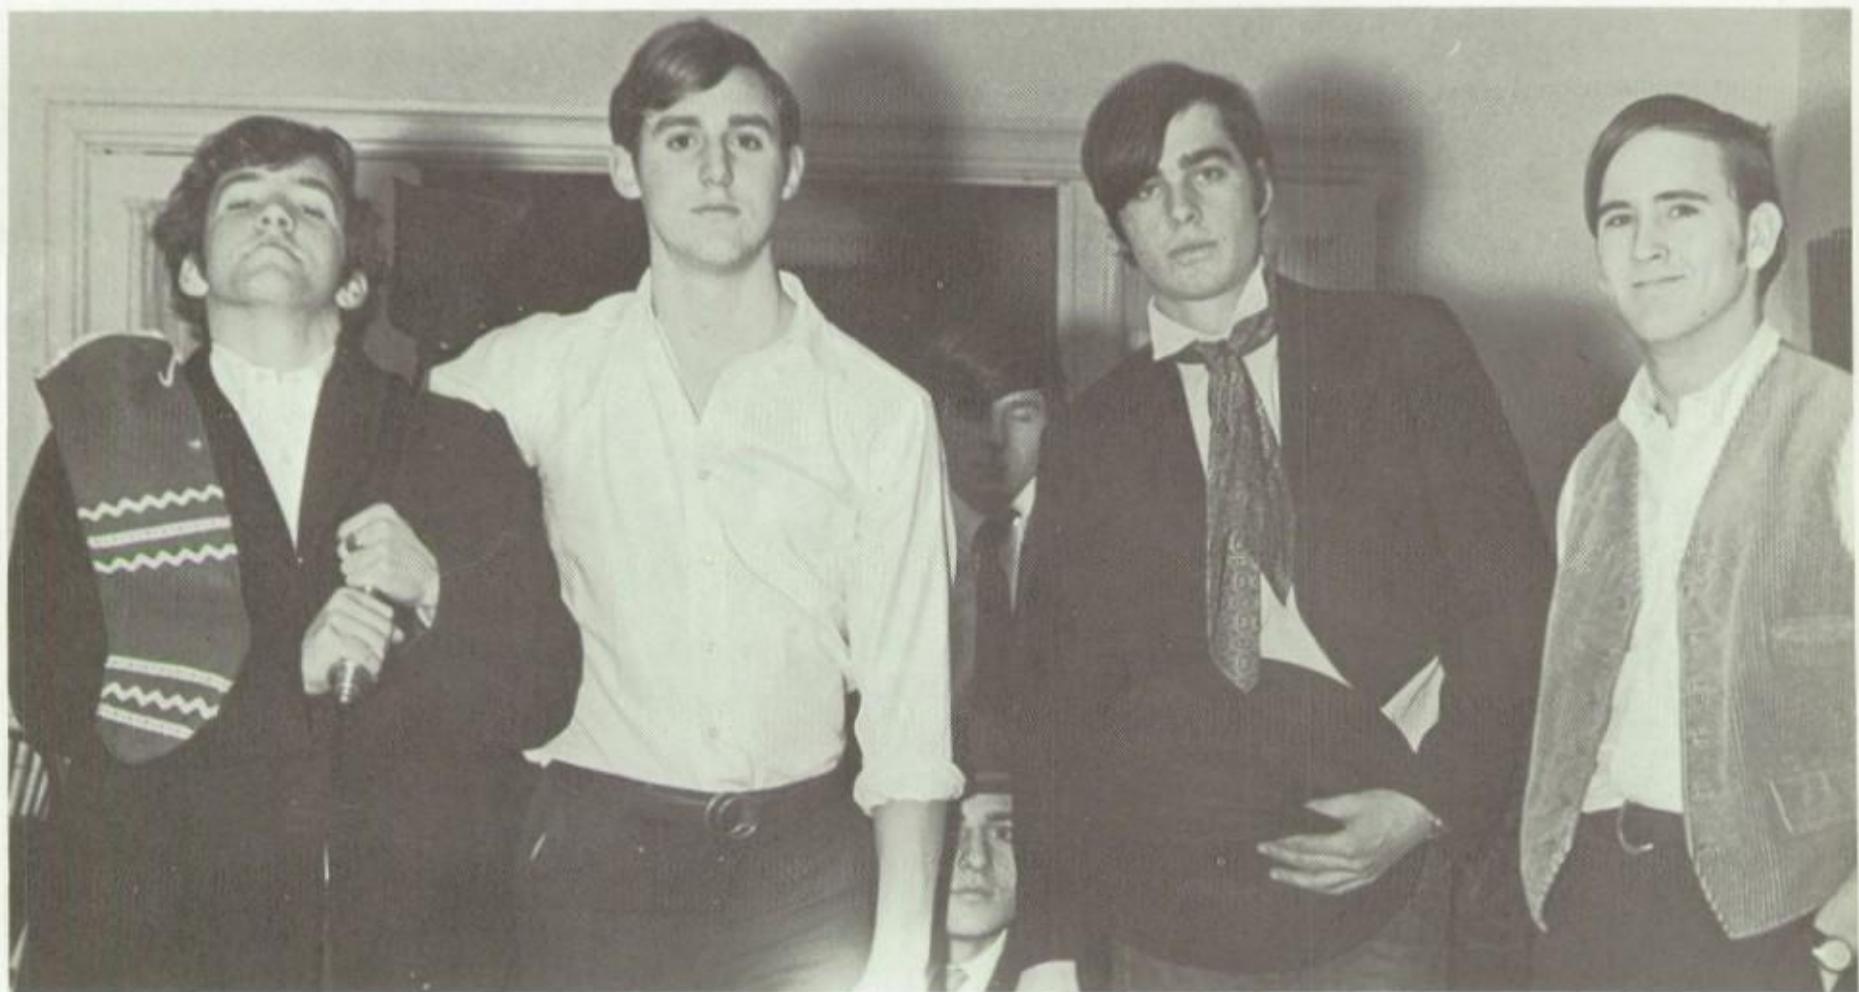

The Gun Club in the year 1968-69 flourished under the very capable direction of Mr. John L. Butler. With the addition of a new skeet range at the week-end camp, donated by Mr. Allan H. McAlpin, more members than ever participated. President Donald Raff, Vice-President Bill Sumers, and treasurer Bill Hutchison with the addition of Bill Richardson and Glenn Davis made up the nucleus of the skeet shooters who defeated Lawrenceville by two birds. The brand new Allan H. McAlpin Cup now rests in Pottstown.

During the winter months while the skeet field was inoperative, the N.R.A. sanctioned rifle team competed against different teams from other schools. High scorers Raff, Hutchison, Wold, Markle, Becker, and Davis all turned in fine scores.

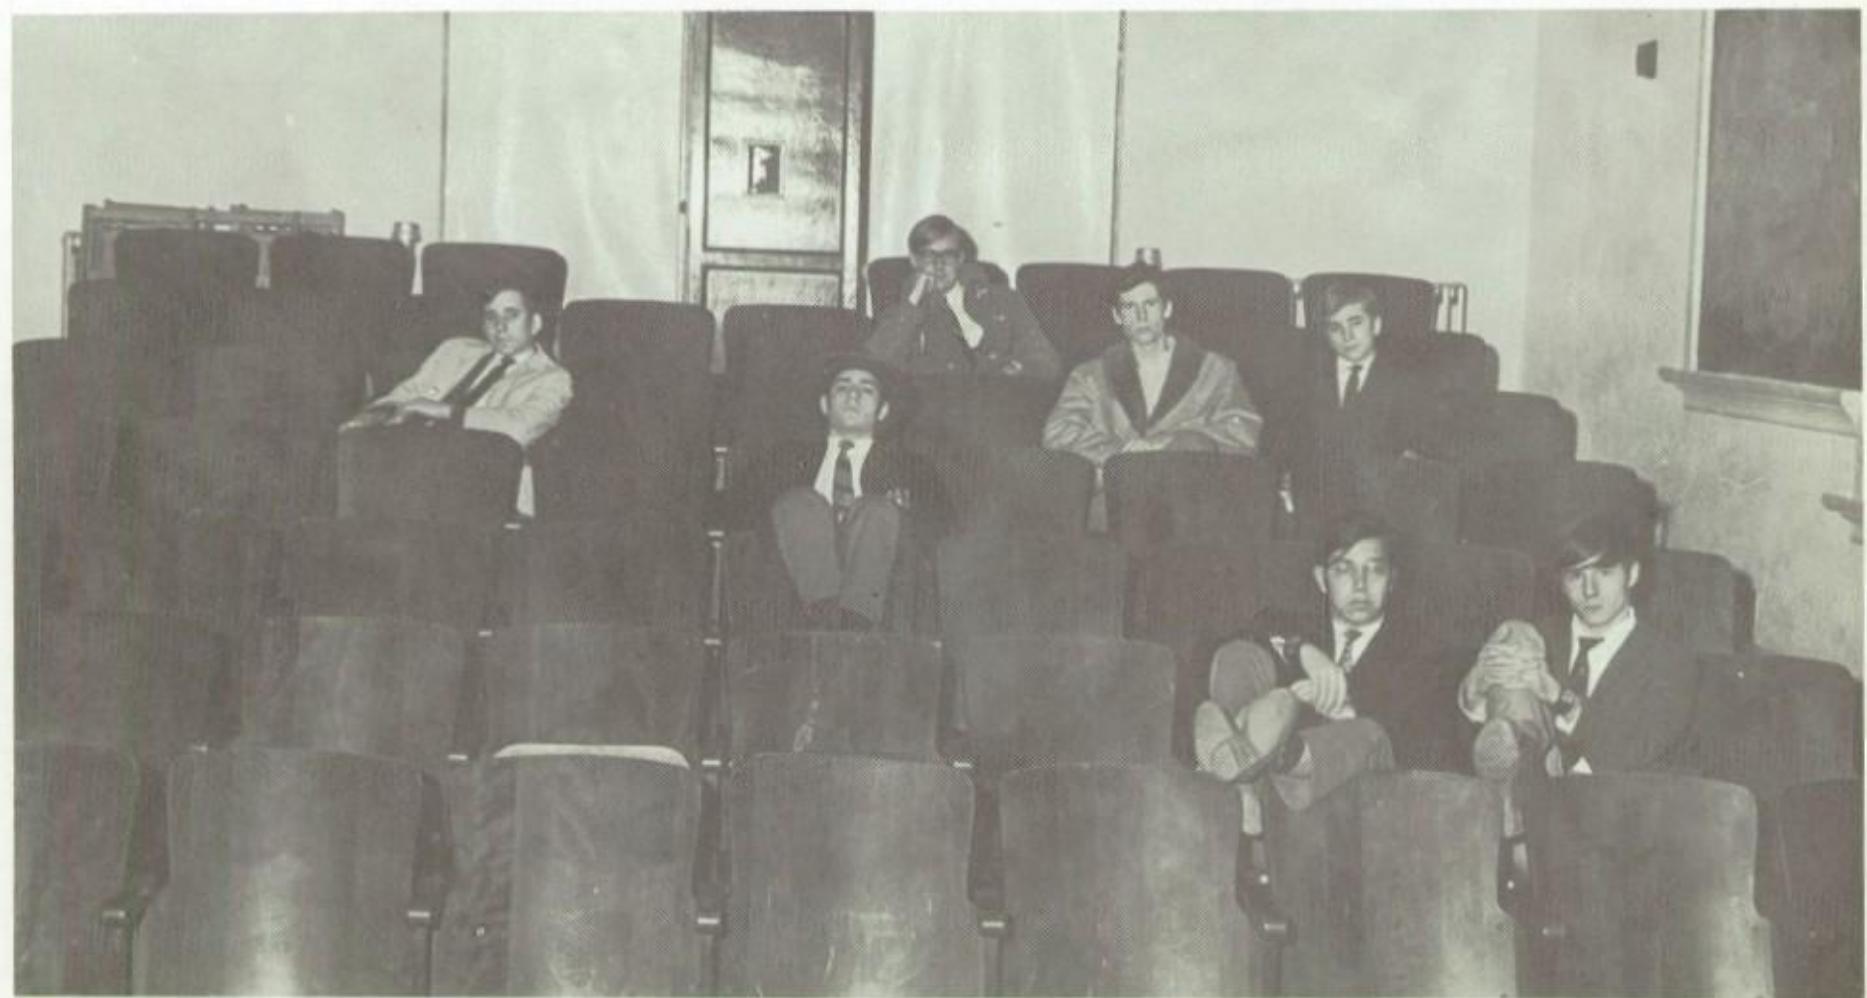

Perhaps the highlight of the year was the Winchester promotional film, filmed at the skeet range, starring all our fine marksmen. Although Mr. Butler turned into quite a "ham", it was a great experience. Next year, we're looking forward to an even more active club and possibly more outside competition.

English Club

The English Club had its first year under the advisoryship of Mr. Morgan, who took over from his predecessor this fall. However, the club was far from inexperienced: Mr. Morgan had attended all the club meetings last year, and the four charter members, Brian Cullman, Joe Donovan, Bill Hale, and Steve Lake, had attended the last one in the spring term so that a few people seemed to know what was happening. In the fall, Mr. Morgan had a meeting with the charter members to more definitely ascertain the bounds and purposes of the club, and they emerged a little more confused than before. But they did manage to elect a group of seven more members — Frank Commons, Bob Earle, Peter Leone, Steve Lisberger, Frank Moore, Dave Stevens, and Tim Thompson.

Even before the first meeting excitement was in the air as there was a slight misunderstanding between Commons, the News, and Mr. Pacanovsky (nice move, Dave!), but Mr. Morgan cleared the air as Cullman laughed to break the pregnant silence. Nonetheless, the comfortable, relaxed atmosphere of the Morgan living room produced some decent talks as Donovan read some of Catullus' dirty poems and Leone read a biography of H. G. Wells. But, alas, Moore and Lisberger decided to follow different pursuits and for various other reasons membership temporarily dwindled. So, Mr. Morgan shrewdly decided to give the English 4th class the benefit of Bill Hale's astute observations on Albert Camus. Surprisingly, Mr. Morgan enjoyed all the talks immensely — until Cullman started pushing Leonard Cohen, but you can't win them all. The Class of '69 English Club provided both provocative, scholarly discussion. With this, the excellent donut and coke hall feeds, and Mr. Morgan's occasional facetiousness, the year was a tremendous success . . . well, a success, anyhow.

Press Club

The Press Club had a typically good year — right! Well, the Alumni Day program was original and good, anyhow — but for some reason co-chairman Joe Donovan couldn't get together with co-chairman Brian Cullman. But that was O.K. — the rest of the year was the same. The new board started off well as the sports editors were infallible — well Tom Clark and Rob Isham could have been worse anyway. However, Doug Hazzard found himself for some reason alone in the literary department and did a tremendous job of getting lists of honor role and varsity teams to home town newspapers. Editor Frank Commons produced prolific (?) amounts of work for the Special Articles Dept., and the P.C. was off to a fine start. At the beginning of the term, Mr. Walsh became the new adviser. Inspired anew, the club reached new heights until Donovan and Commons had to take sabbatical; but the club finished out the winter term in its usual efficient style and the new board took over in the spring (a better club hopefully) with an eager group of fifth formers. The improvement will continue, Thank you Al Moncrieff!

For the first time in the history of the club, dues were collected, and regular bi-weekly meetings were held at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Tuttle, the club advisers. A new gourmet policy was installed this year with a different member cooking an exotic dish for the rest of the club at each meeting (who could forget Kelly and McCormick's steak fondue?) Other highlights of the year were the weekly trips to the Philadelphia Orchestra, the African Room near the Academy of Music, and the big final Spring banquet at the Penthouse Restaurant in Philadelphia. The greatest thanks must go to Mr. & Mrs. Tuttle who put up with dirty kitchens, pots, and pans after each meeting; all club members are indebted to the Tuttle's for providing a welcome, relaxed break in the school routine.

NEWS

AP/DWS/HILL

An investigation of the powerful though clandestine Hill NEWS' Board had been urged by several concerned faculty members. It is reported that these individuals have found the issues of the NEWS to be increasingly iconoclastic, un-American, and generally morose.

David Stevens, the Editor-in-Chief whom his constituents find analogous to Napoleon, is expected to be the primary target of the faculty attacks. His editorials — which have become dangerously voluminous, passionate, and, indeed, radical — are rumored to have brought his character into ill-repute. Normally found in the locked Editor's office at 2:30 A.M. Sundays and Mondays, Stevens is presently unavailable for comment; he is attending an English lecture, where his latest editorial is the topic of dissection.

Brian Cullman, frequently Stevens' Feature Editor, Peter Leone, sometimes Cartoon Editor, and Andrew McCormick, Cullman's cynical assistant, are also expected to be confronted. Leone committed the heinous crime of assailing President Nixon in one of his infrequent sketches; McCormick revealed too much of US's "true flavor." Cullman — the victim of a brief Board shake-up — will be questioned about Steven's megalomania.

The fate of Managing Editor Bob Earle, however, has not been discovered by this reporter; Earle has rarely been seen by the Board since last Spring, and his publishing has not affected the faculty community. News Editor Ray Waters, having completed "Part VII" on "Final Exams," will be politely told why Sixth Formers do have finals. Waters' partner, Loeffler, the one who wanted lead articles on ghosts, cats, and the like, is expected to discuss his failure to be granted autonomy. Metz and Des — or Desmond and Metzler — have had relatively good rapport with the Athletic Department; they will not undergo intensive questioning. Don Zilka, the Business Manager, will; Mr. Senter is reportedly concerned about the weekly paper's dissipated budget. For Stevens is ignorant of economics — too many pictures and six page issues. Mr. Senter reportedly said of one six page issue (Jan. 31), "... four hundred bucks of griping . . .

Nevertheless, the NEWS has appeared weekly, making an impression on somebody: . . . after all, Sir, it is a student paper . . . Mr. Bergquist, let's dissect the Establishment NEWS . . . can't the school seize the NEWS and print it like the Alumni Bulletin? . . . what's the weekly gripe? . . . irresponsible . . . The Hill NEWS must be investigated . . .

The Philadelphia Saving Fund Society called The Dial "a quality publication in every respect." And though we do not wish to either be arrogant or misquoted, we hope this yearbook will be fully appreciated by those who seek to recapture a moment of our existence here at The Hill. Sometimes we feel like saying that in what we have done and whatever you may think of it, we have been entirely disinterested. But that's not true. We loved every minute of the work.

at eastertime when i was small,
chocolate bunnies filled the house.
and there were always two kinds:
the solid chocolate, hard and brown, thick, held in your hand secure,
and the hollow ones, thin chocolate shell, and you had to be careful about how they were held.
the dead seem like the hollow ones —
you say their names, and there's nothing there.
if you clutch them, they crumble and break,
and, fearing that you may crumble with them,
you leave them alone, placing them somewhere where they never were, somewhere where you can't touch them and where you hope they can't touch you.

Blitzo

Rogal, Wray

Record boards have always been made up of the school's subversive elements. No one ever really knows what the Record board does; all they know is that once or twice a year they emerge with scratched pieces of creativity which they offer to the school to decorate bureau drawers.

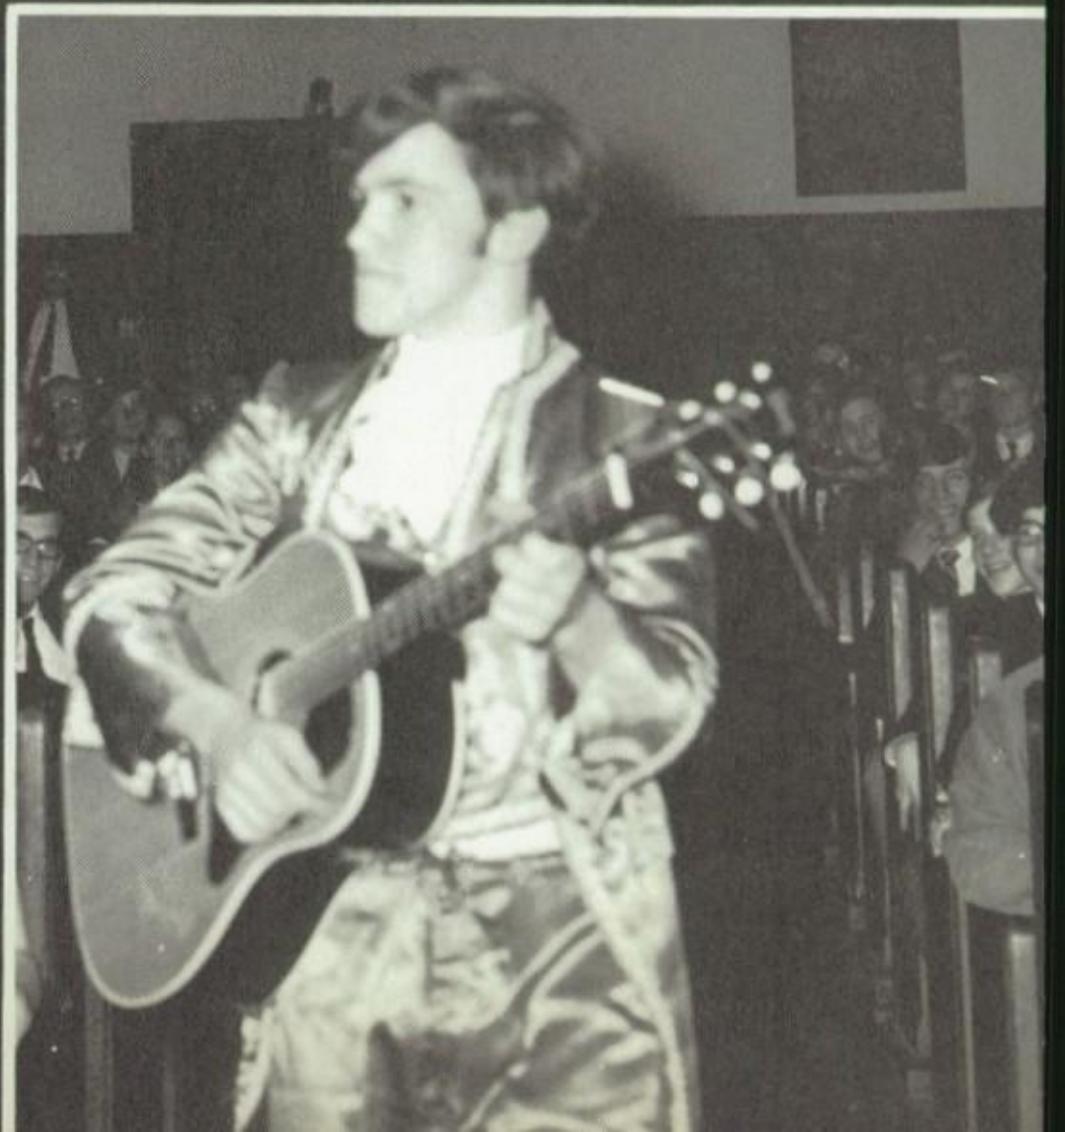

The members of this year's board were unique — no board has ever avoided as much and gotten away with it! Too involved in dangerous, underground activities, the board decided not to issue a Fall Term Reocrd and really surprise the school at a later date. Steve "Blitz" Lisberger, in charge of art, spent his time feeding his pet praying mantis and avoiding the "taper-up-the-back" glances of the beloved dean. Bob "Hashish" Earle, prolific short-story writer and Hill's favorite reactionary, roamed the halls at three in the morning as a junior narc and wrote dirty stories about Muriel, even after Mr. Montgomery banned all obscenities. Joe "Dufus" Donovan was absent from the board for a short time while attending to mail club activities, but was there in spirit all the time. Brian "Mustafa" Cullman, Editor-in-Chief, wrote the now famous drug editorial, was summarily thrown off the "News" for using dirty words (like Mustafa K. H.), and had a guitar kicked in by a friendly Boston policeman while visiting colleges. This was the board. Careful and selective, it took two months to select a junior board, and another month to notify Kim Rogal, of Newspeak fame, and meek, mild-mannered Kevin Wray of their new positions. They were immediately assigned the duty of peddling Noonmark, a second-rate imitation of the Record that Exeter puts out for one dollar a copy, mercenaries that they are. The Record is free!

The board could never quite decide what they wanted to do. Earle wanted to put the Record out as a frequently published magazine; Cullman wanted to put it out as a record album; Lisberger wanted a huge, annual edition; and Donovan didn't really know what he wanted, but remained negative just the same. Then there was the idea of using the money to hold a huge Record carnival, posting the art and literature all over the Donner Hall walls and hiring jugglers, acrobats, clowns, and trained seals to perform there.

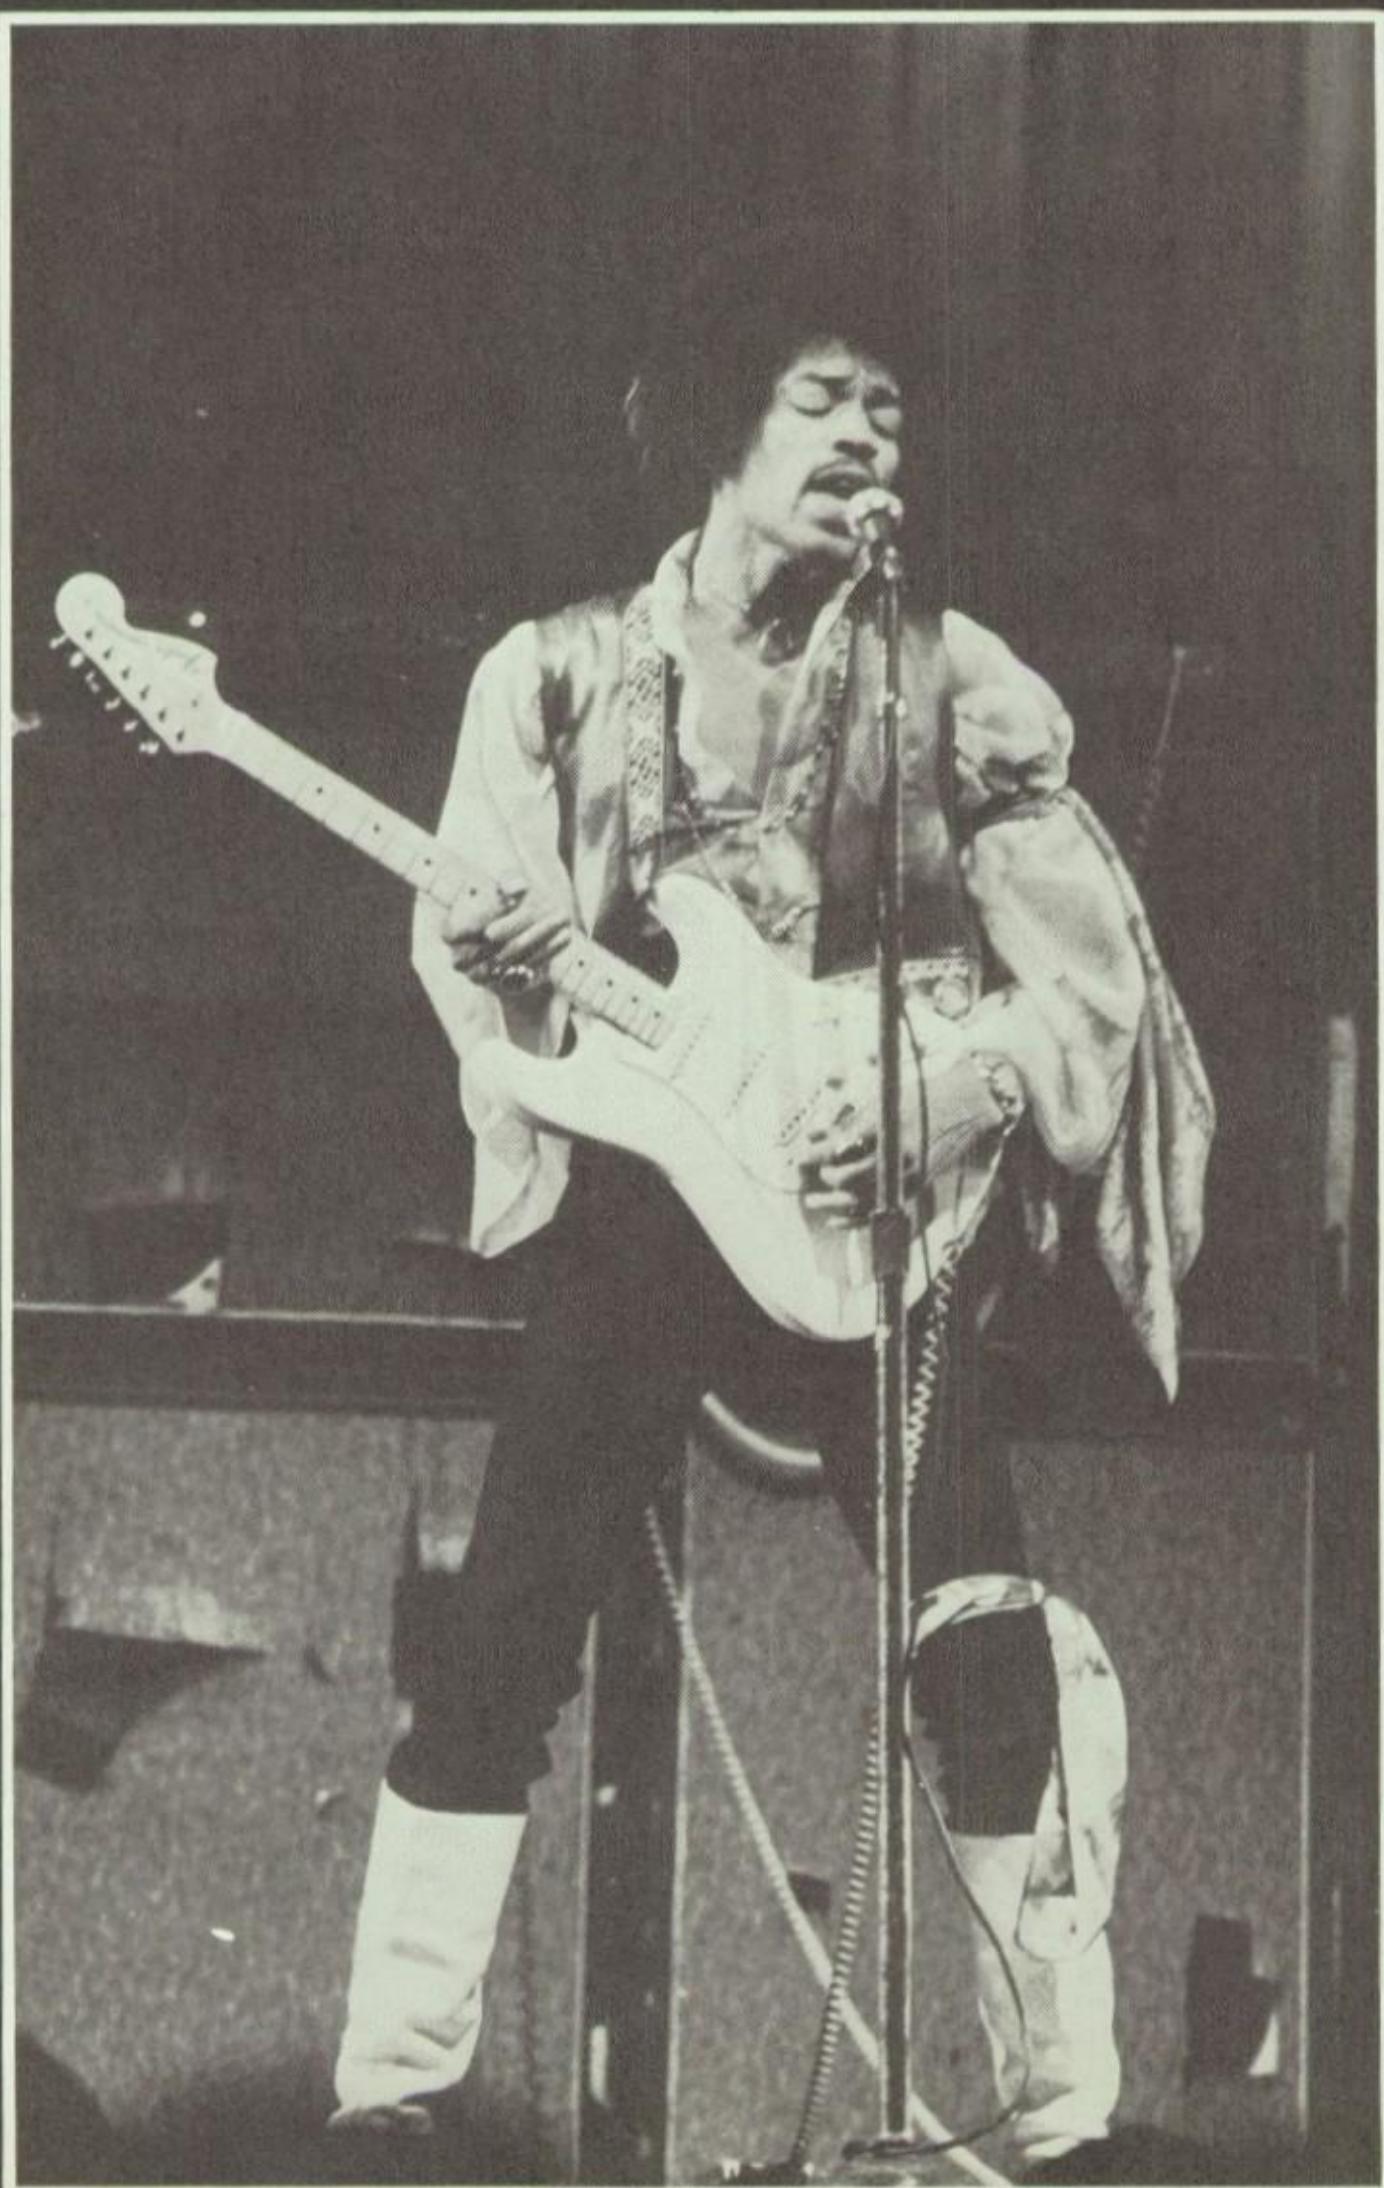

They never did figure out what to do, but nature took its course — the Record could not stagnate for long. The rest, of course, is history.

The Band

The year of 1968-69 was one in which the goals and aspirations of many Frustrated people were realized. Among the stalwarts of the Band were our fearless leader, Mr. G. K. Beacher, and a full complement of returning seniors, including president David Gould, vice-president Donald Raff, and treasurer James Jones.

Due in part to the fine leadership of Mr. Beacher and drum major David Brown, the Band enjoyed its greatest success in its history. This year, the Band tried to perform a different half-time show at every game. The highlight of the season was the Lawrenceville game with continuous music and patterns of motion. El Cid, The Impossible Dream, and a Sousa march were included in this final performance.

At the end of October, the Band was privileged to march in the annual Pottstown Halloween Parade for the second time. It was warmly received and given praise for its efforts. It is truly one of the few links between this school and our fair city.

Hopefully the Marching Band will continue to grow larger and better each year; and as the season drew to a close Richard Duff and Bill Hutchison began frantically collecting and distributing music to the Band as the concert season was about to get under way. Concerts at Shipley, Baldwin, and Agnes Irwin were planned as well as a final Band concert with Dr. James Dunlop as special guest conductor. It's been a great year.

CHOIR

THE HILLTONES

"Unique" perhaps could be the word. "Character" could be another. Anyway, whatever word may be used, the 1968-69 Hilltones were different. Never before had the conventional been broken away from so easily. Tradition seemed to have been thrown out the window when the Hilltones stepped on the various stages they graced this year with their combination of showmanship and musical talent. While in the past, the Hilltones have tried to imitate the "Yale" sound, this year they found their own style — a style that brought reverberating applause from church congregations without making anyone feel guilty about doing so. It was this sound and style that had two hundred elderly women keeping rhythm and tapping the beat with their fingers. It was this style that made the Hilltones.

What was this style? Well, it's a hard thing to define. It just happened when the right people got together. It was an amalgamation of multi-interests and multi-talents. There was Dave Tipson with his Beatle sound, Pete Smith with his Pocono Mountain songs, John Loeffler with his sweet soul music, Pete Pierson with his Rod McKuen and poetry, and Jim Hutchinson with his Righteous Brothers' beat. Bob Dillon, Rick Brown, and Brian Beirne sort of sided with Tipson; John Kennedy, George Hedges, Hank Purnell, and John Ashbey joined the ranks with Loeffler; Carl Herbrandson and Dave Wendell liked Pierson's McKuen; and Doug Reigleuth, John Masland, and Rick Bragdon agreed with Hutchinson. Of course no one liked the Pocono Mountain songs but Smitty. Yet with all the seeming confusion, a distinct sound of spirituals and folk music emerged.

Yes, the year is over, and the 68-69 Hilltones are no more. If only we could hear it one more time, then one more time, then one more time . . .

FIRST ROW: Reigleuth, Hutchinson, Beirne, Masland, Wendell, Smith, Tipson, Loeffler, Hedges, Kennedy, Brown, Herbrandson. SECOND ROW: Pierson, Bragdon, Ashbey, Dillon, Purnell.

Glee Club

The Hill School Glee Club finished the year with a performance that quite appropriately equates its vocal ability and the directing talents of the director, Mr. Lloyd Tuttle, with the Humanities Concert. With the accompaniment of trumpets and kettle drums, the Glee Club combined with Baldwin's to produce an effect quite stimulating and satisfying for the audience. The hundred and fifty-some voices resounded through the chapel with all the force and magnificence of the Met.

Yet this was not the Glee Club's only claim to fame. During the Thanksgiving vacation, while others were enjoying their last day of languishing at home, The Glee Club was giving their annual St. Thomas's Cathedral performance in New York City. The Glee Club had been practicing for this day for several months, and from the response of their performance, it was worth all the work.

With the St. Thomas's engagement in the past, the Glee Club began their preparation for the Christmas service. They produced, as has become a tradition, a splendid service, and then immediately began learning their next assignment, Gilbert and Sullivan's Trial By Jury.

The Glee Club produced this musical operetta in its joint performance with girl schools. Although it may have seemed quite strange to them in the early moments of visioning Doug Reigeleuth as playing the heartbroken girl and Jim Hutchinson as her boy friend, everything worked out fine. Dave Tipson, as the elderly old judge, Rick Bragdon, as the Plaintiff, and Bob Dillon, as the Foreman, all gave commendable performances. The Glee Club was the chorus, and the Hilltones were the jurymen, and the play was a great success.

In all, it was quite a year of the Glee Club.

Hill After Sundown

September '68 — June '69

As usual, Hill boys returned to campus in September, 1968. There were no young ladies around, although a movement of students and faculty interested in coeducation at the Hill began. It appears that the Hill will follow the trend of the day, and soon the campus will be graced by some lovelier faces than the present ones . . . elections came in November of 1968, but the rest of the country, Hill boys seemed to care little for either nominee for President . . . some people managed to keep their spirits up throughout the Fall. They looked happy even if they really were not.

We tried to create a yearbook that would be representative of our class, serious enough to bring back forgotten and memorable moments and humorous enough so that we could laugh at ourselves and not take our existence here as seriously as many feel it is taken. Very restrictive deadlines hurt us the most, and though our friendly censor had to remind us of the tradition of the school, we were able to make a few innovations.

Many people made this book possible, and they deserve credit for their effort. I would like to give my thanks to

for the tedious and demanding work that all underformers get, Dean Graham,

for his friendly American Yearbook service, Don Zilkha and Bob Marks,

for their valuable and timely photographs, Bob Rand,

for his efficient and amazing ability to get money, Tom Leighton,

for wanting the best and not the mediocre in photographs, Frank Commons,

for organizing the club section, helping Rand, and injecting some humor here and there,

Randy Funkhouser,

for the many long hours he spent on this project, special thanks,
Mr. Whiteley, for his untiring support in pictures and ideas, special thanks,

Mr. Woodward,

without whom this yearbook could have not have been made, for his counsel and willingness to listen to our requests, special thanks.
